Antioch Golf Club re-opens in grand style

While the Antioch Golf Club downsized its physical structure dramatically from its peak size of 27,000 square feet to a more efficient 5,700 square foot clubhouse, it re-opened in grand style.

Originally built in 1920, the clubhouse has had various additions to its main structure over the years and topping out at 27,000 square feet. That structure was demolished nearly one year ago and replaced with a new building designed to fit in better with the surrounding area.

About 300 people showed up for the club's open house, a perfect number to be accommodated by the outside tent that is typically used for the bigger events, weddings, anniversary parties and the like.

Manager Vince Juarez said, "The tent, that can seat up to 300 people, stays up for 180 consecutive days, but then is taken down for the winter. It's wonderful for our larger events."

At the time of the former building's demolition, Juarez said it was necessary to downsize. "There's too much space here," he said.

Juarez said the new building helps the club meet its goal of operating more efficiently while offering more suitable surroundings for the events held there over any given year. Typically the club accommodates 40-50 outings through September—16 have been hosted since the construction was completed on July 22.

Antioch Golf Club is a public course that is open year around.

"The only time the golf course is closed is for the actual shot gun openings of our events," he said. "The course is open both before and after that."

While reservations are not mandatory they are recommended.

The clubhouse is home to a new bar and a new grill room.

"We should be able to comfortably accommodate about 150 people," he said. "The new bar will seat 44 and the grill room about 100."

Juarez said that, come fall, the restaurant will serve Friday night fish fries and prime rib on Saturdays. He added that the grill is known for its salmon dishes.

Reservations are recommended for the restaurant, open from 11 a.m.-10 p.m. The bar area stays open until midnight.

The club caters the food for its special outings and engagements.

"The time it takes to prepare a function depends on the size and the date," he said. "Some smaller functions can come together within two weeks. Larger functions and weddings require more advanced notice."

Citizens seek permanent spot on board agenda

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

For the second time in a month, residents have asked that the village board adopt a standardized procedure for the "citizens wishing to address the board" portion of the agenda.

Jodi Gott made the second formal request for such action; the first request came from Jack Fields about one month ago. At that time, Mayor Taso Maravelas vowed to create a committee to address the issue.

"It should be the same from meeting to meeting," said Gott. "Sometimes we're told we have to be put on the agenda, and other times people are just allowed to talk."

Gott said she and other residents were frustrated at the meeting when former village administrator Mike Haley's resignation was accepted. "There were several people who had something to say at that meeting and public comment wasn't allowed."

Maravelas struck back. "You're not being fair," he said. "The other week we had a very busy agenda and all asked was that if it's not very important that it wait. We didn't get out that night until midnight."

Village attorney Bob Long explained that it is typically the prerogative of the chair to determine how much, if any, public comment

Industrial park will not neighbor Loon Lakes

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Loon Lakes residents won't have to worry that their new next door neighbor is going to be an industrial park.

The combined plan commission and zoning board denied a petition put forth to rezone the Beelow and Hertel party to M-1 (Industrial).

Bob Silhan, director of planning, zoning and building for the Village of Antioch, recommended that the petition be denied. In his report to the plan commission he said that there were well-known concerns about access that have been documented as far back as 1991.

He said, "Everyday traffic access is dependent upon a single entrance road and an at-grade crossing, the emergency lane proposed is accessible only via an at-grade railroad crossing at Lake Shore Drive."

In short, all access to the site is dependent upon crossing the railroad tracks.

The public hearing was continued from May 8, at which time attorney for the petitioner Daniel Thut requested a 90-day continuation.

"We're asking to table this matter for 90 days to explore other options," he said. "Another entity is interested in the property for another use more compatible with what the neighbors want."

Thut said his clients brought the matter before the board at this time so the matter would be in the works prior to the moratorium being called for the Route 83 corridor.

In giving a history of the events up to now, Thut said the village had previously been interested in an Industrial Park and that his clients paid $175,000 to continue sewer lines down to the property located on the east side of the Wisconsin Central Railroad about one-quarter mile south of Grimm Road.

"We either want to keep going, or give us our money back," he said. "We need a sense of whether Antioch wants this. We know Loon Lakes doesn't want it."

Bram Stoker's 'Dracula' begins PM&L's 43rd season

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

PM&L Theatre is a community theater that has survived for more than 40 years when other communities' theaters have died off.

The company begins its 43rd season with a production of "Dracula" based on Bram Stoker's classic novel and directed by Lou Jones of Round Lake. It will run weekends beginning on Sept. 19 through the first week in October. Friday and Saturday shows begin at 8 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2:30 p.m.

The building renovations at PM&L's home theater—located at 877 Main Street, Antioch—are complete so all of this season's performances will take place there.

According to PM&L president, Tom Hausman, productions began in 1960 when the 12 founding members chipped in $10 each to create a kitty to allow them to put on a couple of shows. By 1971, PM&L was putting on a six-show season.

These days, the company has a full-time schedule given planning and organizing, auditions, and the rehearsal time necessary to make a show a success.

The other five shows of the season and dates are "Scrooge" by Leslie Bricusse, directed by Linda Hachmeister of Antioch, Nov. 21-Dec. 7. "On Golden Pond" by Ernest Thompson, directed by Gigi Willding of Ingleside, runs Jan. 23-Feb. 8. "Babes in Arms" by Richard Rodgers, Lorenz Hart and George Oppenheimer, directed by Tom Hausman of Antioch, runs March 19-April 4. "Smoke and Mirrors" by Will Osborne and Anthony Herrera, directed by Bruce Weise of Woodstock, running May 21-June 6. "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" by Burt Shrevelove, Larry Gelbart and Stephen Sondheim, directed by Donna Badke of Genoa City, Wis., runs July 16-Aug. 1.

Two of PM&L's current members were also two of the founding twelve. Ken Smouse has served in various offices over the years, and his wife Betty is publicity director.

PM&L Theatre is run by its 12-member board of directors. Directors are elected every other year to a two-year term. Open auditions are held for every play. Members and non-members have the same opportunity to be selected for the various roles offered.

Hausman said that the theater group is always looking for people to help with the behind-the-scenes aspects of play production including people to design lights and costumes, stage managers, sound system technicians and assistants to the directors.

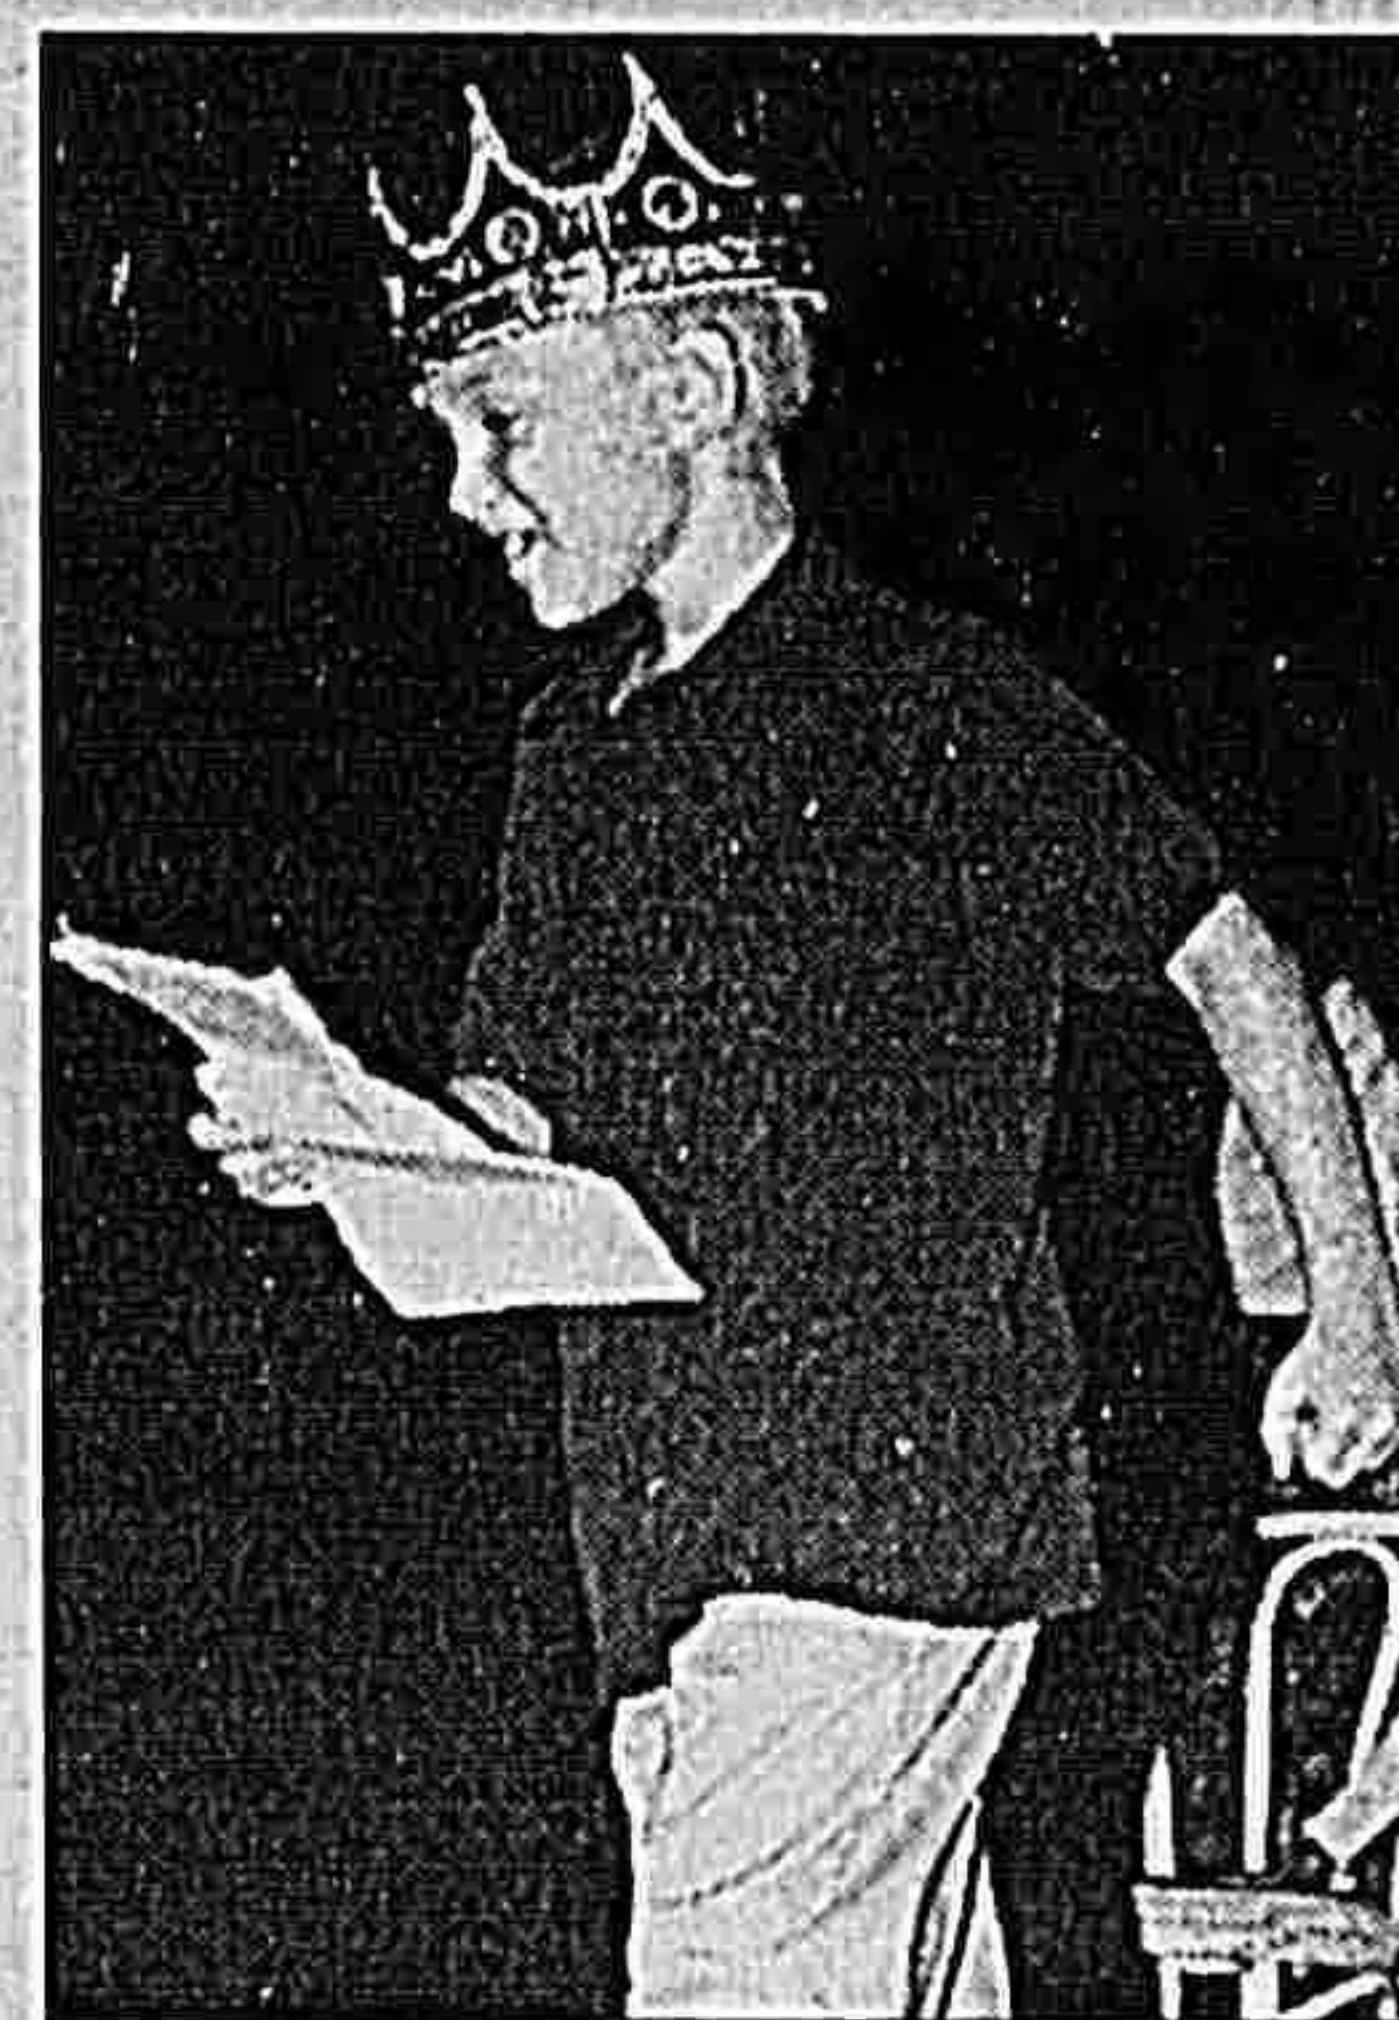

Betty Smouse said purchasing season tickets offer a considerable savings over individual show prices. Season tickets are $60 for adults, $45 for students (high school and younger) and seniors (over 60 years old).

Typically, the box office opens two weeks prior to every production. Hours are Monday through Thursday from 5:30-7:30 p.m. and 11 a.m.-2 p.m. on Saturdays.

Lakes Region Historical society plans workshops

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Now that the Meeting House is officially up and running, the Lakes Region Historical Society (LRHS) is adding to its public offerings.

With that, the newsletter has undergone a format change that allows more room for educational features such as "Conservation Corner" written by board member Regina Reynolds who holds a Masters Degree as a museum professional.

"We're using this a little bit as a teaser to entice people to attend a workshop we will be conducting this fall," she said. "We want to let people know that our organization is a resource for all sorts of information that can help them preserve their own treasures."

The first installment of her column offers some basic steps to protect vintage textiles. She addresses one particular nuisance: the dermestid beetle.

In short, three steps can be taken to bring an infestation under control. She said cold would upset the climate of the larva (when this beetle is most destructive) so items can be packaged in thick, airtight plastic and frozen for about 2 weeks. From there, an item should be vacuumed so as not to attract other pests. The clean article should then be stored in an area isolated from other infected items.

"Prevention is different from treating an item after the fact," she said. "We hope that people will be interested in how to care for their own special items."

The textile care workshop does not have a set date at this time, but is expected to be scheduled early to mid-fall according to LRHS president Wendy Maston.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Aug. 28 at the Meeting House located southeast of the intersection of Lake and Main streets on Main Street. For more information, call 847-395-7337.

High school district supports JILG during state funding shortage

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Lack of state funding won't hinder the Jobs for Illinois Graduates (JILG) program at Antioch Community High School. The board of education of Community High School District 117 opted to keep the program, at a district cost of about $50,000, because of the benefits it provides the students involved.

"I wanted to make it a priority program in the budget," said Supt. Dennis Hockney. "Given the impact that the Jobs for Illinois Graduates program has had on the students involved, we did not want to get rid of it."

Earlier this year, funding was cut at the state level. According to JILG instructor Nancy Fenton, Gov. Rod Blagojevich used his line-item veto after the Illinois General Assembly reinstated the program.

"I am extremely grateful for the opportunity to continue to run this amazing program and optimistic that it will recover from this setback," said Fenton in the JILG newsletter.

Hockney said the board's decision was to cover the 2003-04 school year, and that it would look at the situation beyond that further down the road. "We don't know what the state will do about the funding for next year," said Hockney.

Hockney

Jobs for Illinois Graduates is part of a national organization called Jobs for America's Graduates (JAG) that oversees programs in 28 other states. According to Fenton, the national JAG board of directors, made up of current governors, U.S. senators and congressmen as well as several presidents of large corporations, is working to ensure JILG funding will be reinstated.

The purpose of the JILG classes (two classes are typically run each year) is to help students to transition smoothly from high school into college, the military or the workforce. Three hundred fifty hours of service learning are tied into the curriculum. At the core of the JILG classes are 37 competencies that employers and career/job specialists view as desirable worker traits and skills. Among them are those demonstrating team membership and leadership, and upholding commitment to an organization.

"Nancy does a great job with the students who are in this program," said Hockney. "She works very hard, year around, and helps with organizational skills, resume writing, interview skills, all sorts of things that will help to make these students successful."

Advance warning makes for better plans

Yikes, is summer really almost over? Must be. Some time-honored fall events are just on the horizon, and advance notice will allow for appropriate planning.

Dates have been set for both the German American Club of Antioch's Oktoberfest and the Antioch Rotary Club Pork Chop Barbecue and Auction.

Oktoberfest won't be held in October, but rather on Saturday, Sept. 13.

This year the event is being held at the German American Cultural Center on Route 132 one mile west of Route 83 in Lake Villa. Doors open at 6 p.m., but things don't really get started until 7:30 p.m.

As in years past, there will be authentic music, food and drinks as well as raffle prizes.

The admission is $8. For more information, call Dorothy Jordahl at 847-356-5484.

The Antioch Rotary Club Pork Chop Barbecue and Auction will be held on Oct. 4 at St. Peter's Church, Father Hanley Center, located at 557 Lake Street, Antioch. Dinner is scheduled from 5-7 p.m. with the auction following at 7 p.m.

Proceeds support the Antioch Rotary Scholarship Fund that typically provides $30,000 in scholarships to students residing in Community High School District 117.

Last year, 400 people attended and bid on over 300 items during the live and silent auctions. Nearly $70,000 was raised, leaving some to support humanitarian projects around the world through Rotary International after the local scholarships were awarded.

Dinner tickets are $20 and double as raffle tickets for a $500 travel certificate.

For more information, call either Mike Anderson at 847-245-8001 or Bob Schneider at 847-395-4444.

Children are encouraged to bring their grandparents to the Antioch Public Library on Sept. 11 for the library's Celebrating Grandparents program.

Crafts, stories and old-fashioned fun will be the order of the day at both 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. sessions.

Registration takes place Aug. 25-Sept. 5 in person at the children's desk. This program is free and recommended for those between 3-12 years old.

At the last regular board meeting, Bill Ahlers, the district's business manager, told the board that there were no surprises in the budget and he predicted a balanced budget for the upcoming year.

In the past couple of years, no community members have attended the district's public hearing regarding the budget.

is allowed. "It was just because of the extent of the agenda," he said.

Gott suggested that it should have been better explained. She said, "It didn't come across that way. Please handle public comment the same from meeting to meeting."

Trustees Mary Turner and Barbara Porch backed Gott's position. "It's sacred for citizens to be able to come in here and speak," said Turner.

Porch said she remembered Fields bringing up the topic and the mayor responding that the board would establish a committee. "To my knowledge this hasn't been done," she said.

Trustee Scott Pierce said he had tried to make establishing a policy on this matter a priority at the time he was elected to no avail. "We caught flack for this," he said. "We were accused of trying to limit speech. You're damned if you do and damned if you don't."

Damned or not, the board decided to hold an afternoon session for the committee of the whole in the near future to resolve the issue.

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

DUI

Lauri L. Ruble, 22, of 165 Oakwood Drive, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Aug. 18 at 1:15 a.m. at the intersection of Main and Orchard.

Ruble was stopped for driving without her headlights on. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on her breath and asked her to perform field sobriety testing, all of which Ruble failed.

She was arrested and issued citations for driving without headlights when required and DUI. Ruble agreed to chemical testing that resulted in blood alcohol concentration level of .166. An additional citation was issued for DUI over .08.

Ruble posted her driver's license and $100 cash bond and was released pending her Sept. 22 court date.

Benjamin A. Cater, 37, of 42485 Poplar Street, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence on Aug. 14 at 11:43 p.m. in the 1000 block of Route 173.

Cater was stopped for squealing his tires leaving a gas station and crossing the fog line twice. He was unable to provide proof of insurance to police.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on Cater's breath. He failed all field sobriety tests requested of him.

He was arrested and issued citations for DUI, two counts of improper lane usage and operating an uninsured vehicle. Cater refused chemical testing. He was released on cash bond pending his Sept. 16 court case.

Warrant arrest

Gregory C. Pawlowski, 49, of 26198 Lakeshore Drive, Antioch, was arrested on warrant on Aug. 14 at 4:20 p.m. at 830 Main Street.

Police saw Pawlowski's vehicle with no front registration plate and knew from prior contacts that his driver's license was revoked. A check through LEADS/NCIC confirmed that his driver's license was revoked and that he was wanted through Lake County on a $21,000 warrant (10 percent applies) for failure to appear on a disorderly conduct charge.

Pawlowski was arrested and issued citations for having no front registration plates and driving while revoked. He was released on personal recognizance on those charges, but placed in a cell to await transportation to the Lake County Jail.

Karen M. Kostner, 38, of 555 Maplewood Drive, Antioch, was arrested on warrant on Aug. 18 at 8:30 a.m. at her home address.

An officer was sent to the address to check for two inoperative vehicles by the administration of the Antioch Police Department. Police ran the two plates through LEADS with returning as belonging to Kostner on Maplewood and the other to Kostner with a Filweber Court address.

Additionally, the officer noticed that Kostner's driver's license was suspended and that she was wanted by the McHenry County Sheriff's Office on $1,000 warrant (10 percent applies) for contempt of court.

There was no answer at the door, so police went to Kostner's employer. Kostner was not there, but showed up driving a Ford Bronco.

Kostner was arrested and issued a citation for driving while suspended and was released on personal recognizance pending her Sept. 10 court date. She posted bond on the warrant.

LAKE VILLA

Theft

Dennis A. Kehl, 36, of 26116 Geraldine Lane, Barrington, and Craig A. Kehl, 31, of 1424 East End, Round Lake Beach, were arrested by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 9, at 11:30 p.m., in the southbound lane on Cedar Lake Road near Northwood.

Police responded to a call regarding an accident at the location. On arrival, police observed construction lumber in the middle of the southbound lane of Cedar Lake Road. A red 1997 Ford pickup was parked on the shoulder of the road, with over 25 pieces of lumber in the truck bed, according to police reports. Two male subjects, later identified as Craig and Dennis Kehl, were moving lumber off the road and into the truck. Police reported the men appeared "nervous." They both also appeared to have been drinking.

A 56-year-old male driver from Lindenhurst told police he struck the lumber lying in the roadway with his car.

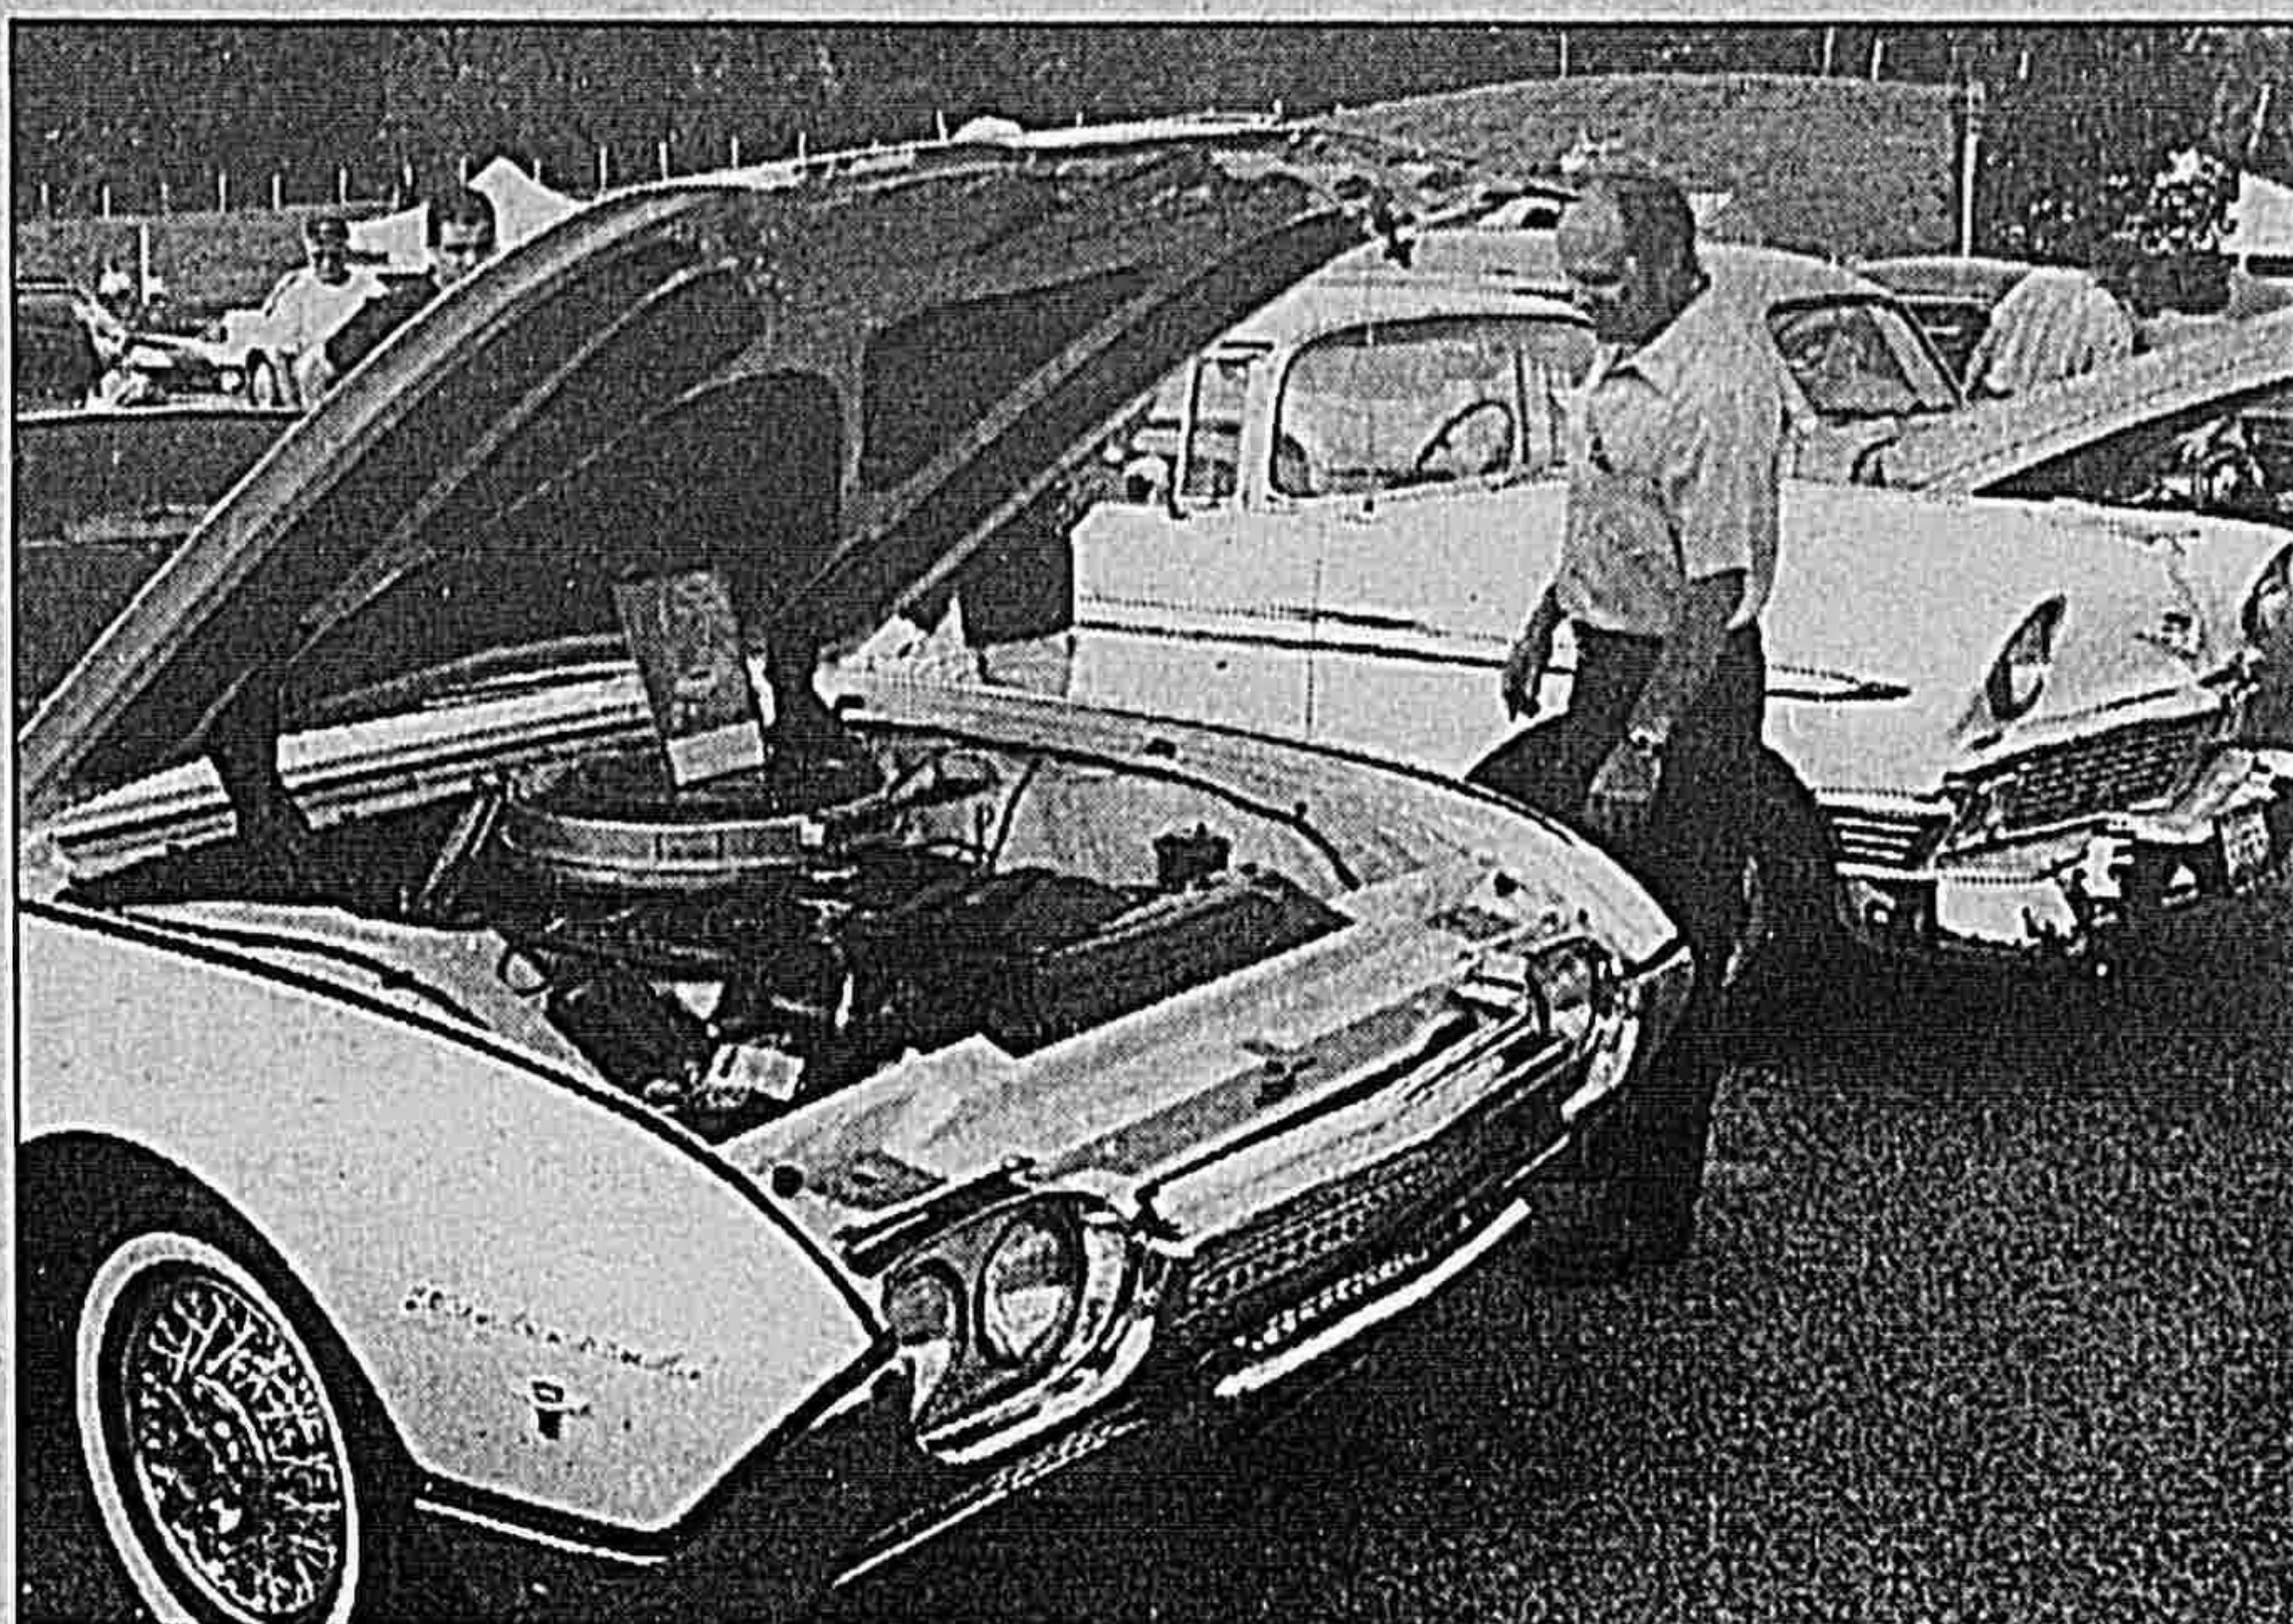

Police observed the nearby Realen construction site. Craig Kehl said he worked for Realen Homes framing houses. He said he and Dennis found the lumber in the road, and were loading it into the truck to get it out of the road.

Dennis was, according to police, "inconsistent" in his story.

When informed that the complainant had told police that lumber was already in the truck, Dennis Kehl said "...then it's mine and I can keep it, right?"

Both men were arrested on charges of theft of lost/mislaid property. Dennis Kehl, who told police his removal of the lumber from the road was "a humanitarian gesture," was also charged with failing to secure a load and spilling onto a highway.

Both men are set to appear in Grayslake Branch III court on Sept. 10 at 3 p.m.

Storm Water Management Commission usurps municipal rights

I am a resident of the Village of Antioch and a village trustee.

The Lake County Storm Water Management Commission (SMC) has targeted this community and is setting its sights on others throughout the county. The tool with which they will usurp municipal rights is what they euphemistically call a Storm Water Management Plan.

The purpose of the commission, as I understand it, is to plan for and prevent flooding in areas throughout the county. This is a very necessary and essential purpose. No one wants to see anybody lose a home or business due to flooding.

Following the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that took control and protection of isolated waters away from the (Army) Corps of Engineers and devolved it back to local communities, the SMC quickly assumed control and received legal backing from the county and state. Failure to conform by a municipality meant immediate de-certification and an onerous inspection schedule set by SMC.

No one municipality has the resources or ability to fight this steamroller.

Under the guise established to provide protection against flooding and the protection of isolated waters, SMC has evolved its charter to include community planning, stringent growth control, anti-development planning, Forest Preserve acquisition guidance and to act as the overall enforcement arm of the Lake County Board's "green" contingent. None dare say a word for fear the all-seeing SMC will turn its eye on their village or town.

This is a non-elected entity setting rules and policies answerable only to itself. How does one find relief?

These Watershed Management Plans are also an evolution in the power of SMC. Taking well-reasoned data, SMC has constructed a plan to restrict any form of growth outside an area the county board presumes appropriate.

Opinions, inaccuracies, inflammatory language, junk science and very costly methodologies are incorporated into these plans with the purpose of advancing a far-reaching agenda. Accepted as fact and presented to the SMC with very little public input, the plan will be incorporated into county ordinances and its Watershed Development Ordinance (WDO). At this point, every municipality covered by a watershed plan will lose any and all control over its destiny and borders.

Homeowners and business owners will find that these plans are just a prelude to changing the floodplain boundaries. Areas that have never flooded will now be called flood zone.

Homeowners will find their home insurance rates increasing by approximately $500 per year. God forbid what our business owners will experience in their increased rates. Anybody who owns property in these areas will find a significant decrease in their property values. In Antioch alone, this will be almost all of the industrial park and any home anywhere near Sequoit Creek.

On Aug. 13, during the middle of a busy workday with little notice, SMC held a public hearing on its plan.

I ask the SMC to stop right now, notify every property owner affected by this plan via mail. I also ask SMC to extend the public comment period for 3-6 months. I further ask SMC to hold public hearings in each municipality affected by the Sequoit Watershed Plan during evening hours when those affected may attend and be heard. I also ask that this occur in each area of the county in which a watershed plan is being developed.

What SMC is proposing is essentially a property zoning change with none of the required hearings or certified notices that normally occur. This is dangerous for SMC and the county taxpayer because unless done correctly, fairly and following all laws, SMC will become subject to lawsuits.

For the future of Lake County, I ask that all municipalities affected by SMC contact their county board member and ask for fair and equitable treatment from SMC. If the WDO is flawed, do not just pick and chose areas of the county to make changes; fix the WDO so all areas of the county equally suffer (and tax dollars and jobs fly north to Wisconsin). This is a request based upon what makes this country different and special: fair and equitable treatment for all.

Parks friends change work date, location

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Both the date and the location of the upcoming Friends of Parks meeting have been changed.

"Friends usually meet on the last Saturday of the month, but this month that coincides with Labor Day weekend," said Laurie Stahl, director of the parks department. "We're changing the date to the first weekend in September and have moved the location from Williams Park to Jensen Park."

The session will be held on Saturday, Sept. 6 beginning at 9 a.m. and running through noon. Residents and park users are encouraged to come with a willing attitude as well as a couple of tools to help with the clean-up effort.

"It's helpful for those who want to help out to bring their own gloves and possibly a rake or shovel or wheelbarrow," said Stahl.

Each park board member is responsible for one park, and that the parks are regularly checked to see if anything is being overlooked. The park with the longest "to do" list was selected as the site of this first project.

Friends of the Parks is open to anyone wishing to help care for and preserve Antioch's parks for residents in the years to come.

Stahl said, "This is the final work session of the summer, so hopefully we'll have a good turn out of people who want to help take care of and preserve Antioch's wonderful parks."

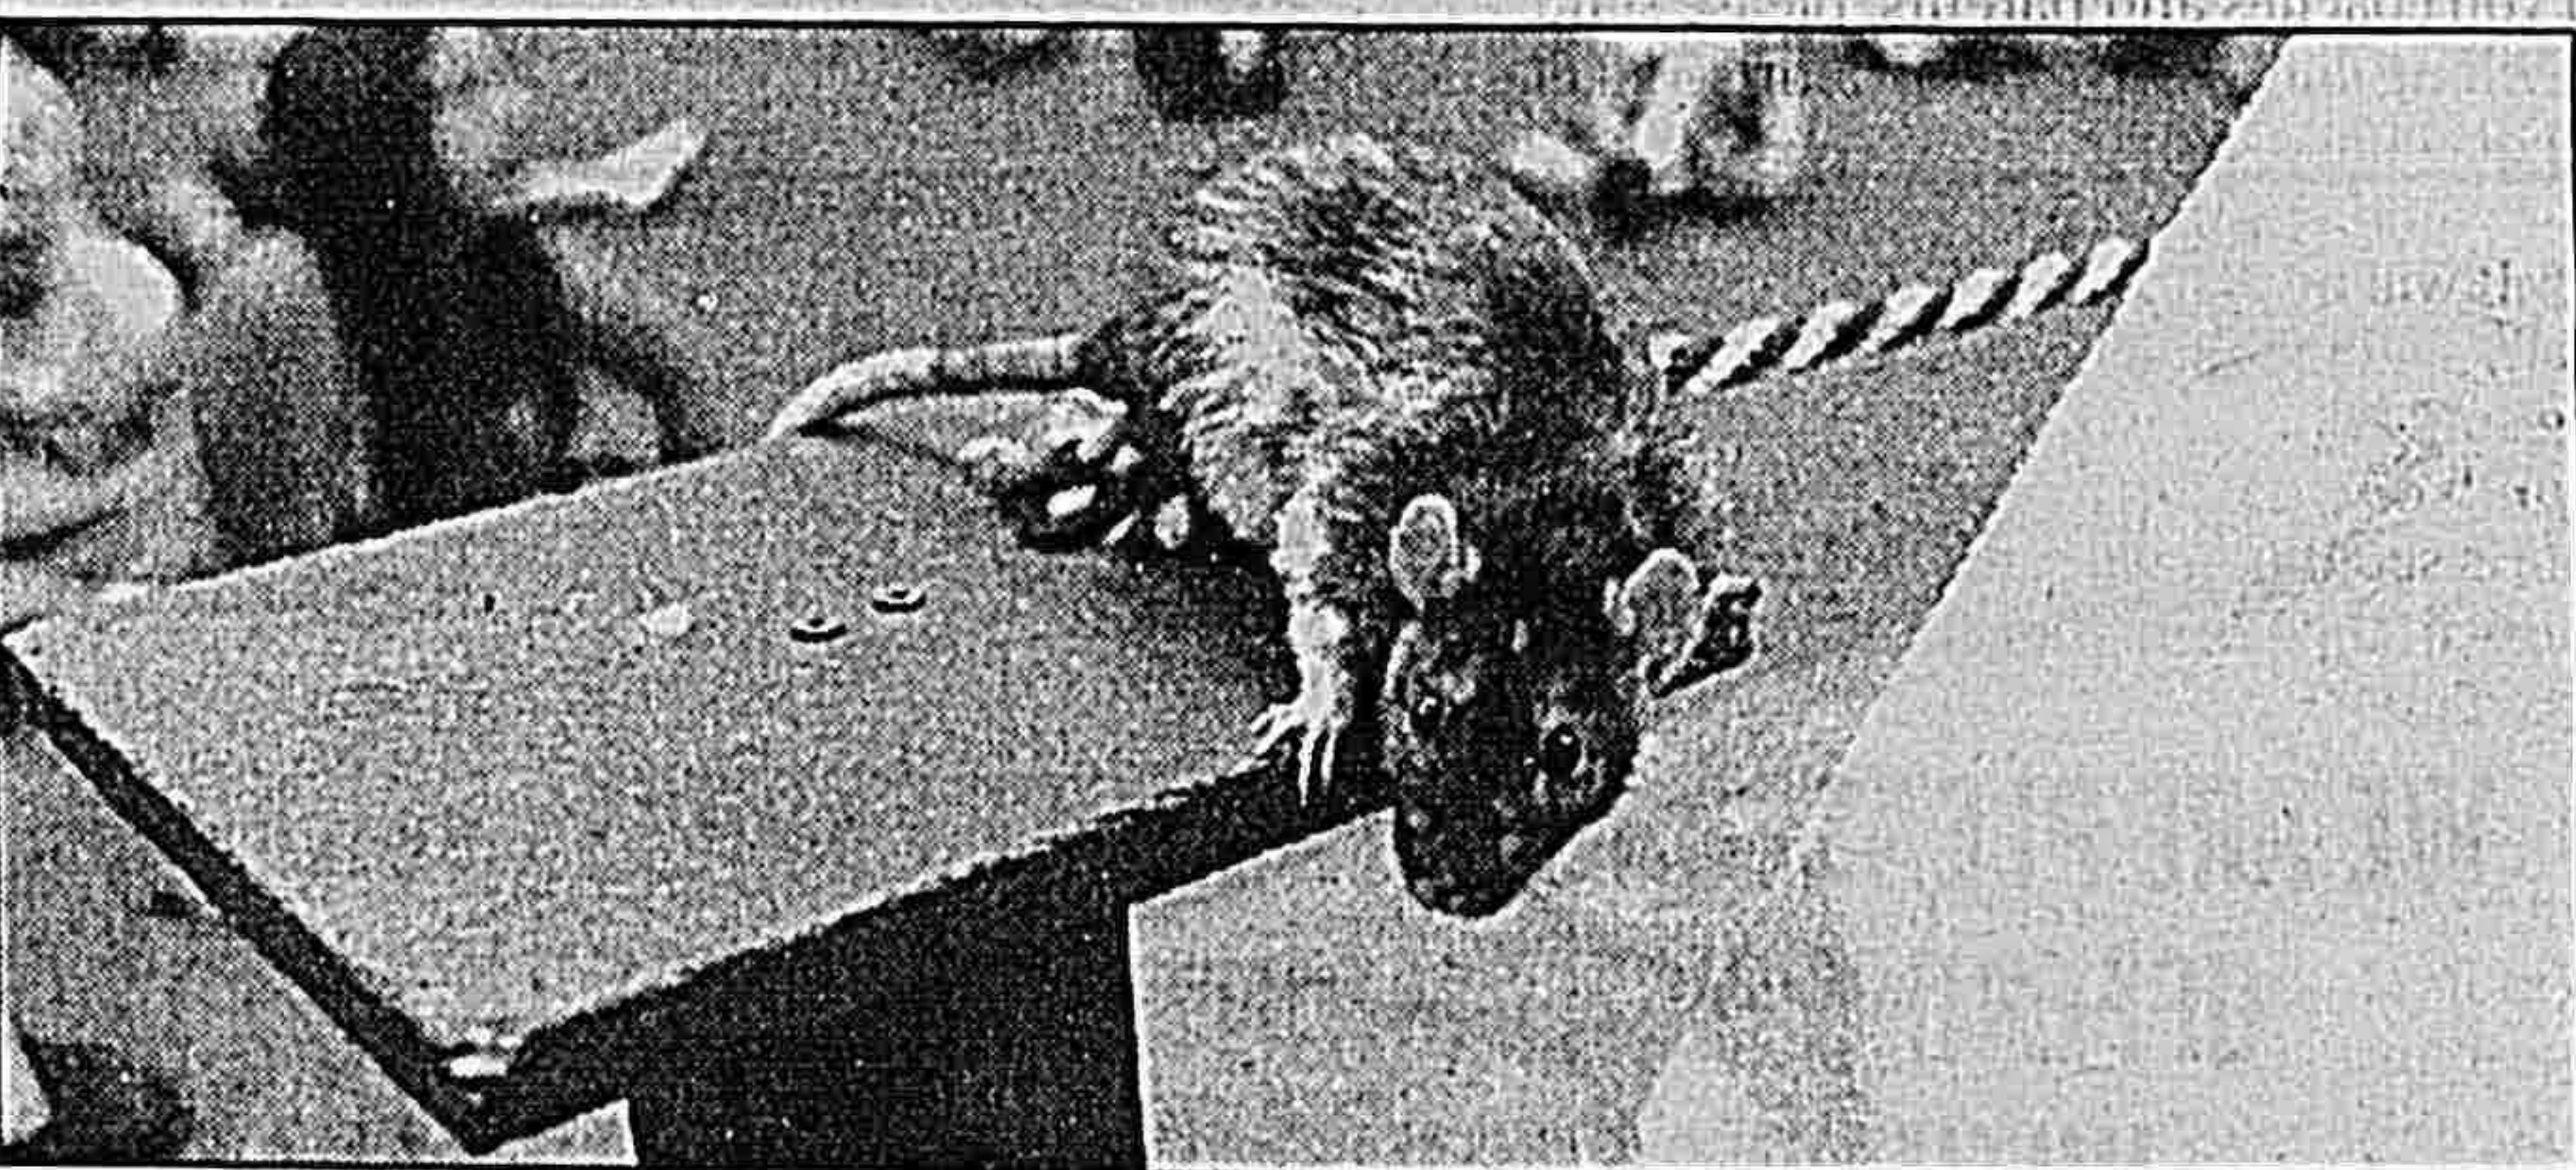

Jensen Park is located on Alima Terrace in the Sequoit Terrace subdivision. Follow Route 83 to First Street (follow jog), west, to Alima Terrace.

For more information, call the parks office at 847-395-2160.

LAST CALL

John Phelps

We'll see ya around

Some of you now might know me, some of you may not. For those who do not, chances are, we would have crossed paths at one point in time or another.

We still may, only in a different capacity.

Yes, the time has come for yours truly to step down. After a few months of careful deliberation and contemplating, other avenues have opened up, primarily dealing with obtaining my M.A. in Education. That's right, you present and future athletes will see me in oh, 2-3 years from now. Only then it'll be in the classroom. I will still prowling the sidelines for Lakeland as a freelance sports writer, so you're not getting rid of me completely. Plus, the kids and seeing the great talents out there are what drove and continues to drive me to do the best possible job I can.

But as far as the past four-and-a-half years are concerned—at least here in a full-time capacity—they have been great. The fans, the athletes, the coaches, the parents. You've all been very kind to me. I've crossed paths with some of the coolest coaches and players. Even gotten to know some of you on a good friendship level. Thank you for that.

You're in good hands, though.

You may know the name from a year ago and before. I have the utmost confidence in my successor, Mr. Rob Backus. Rob worked for us as a part-time sports reporter for three years. He's familiar with the area, the teams, and the people. And he's a pretty good writer on top of that. All of you coaches and parents, please send anything and everything to sports@lakelandmedia.com. He'll be taking care of business from there, I trust.

It will be an exciting time for Rob, especially seeing that Lakeland will be undergoing somewhat of a face-lift in the next month or so. With specific relation to the sports section, it will be its own separate entity in the County, or B Section of the newspaper.

It is said that it will be anywhere from a 12 to 18-page section, with more individual focus on each of the 11 high schools we cover. You'll have your regular digest and agate pages, plus a features page, a College of Lake County page, and those youths—you guys have been great. You'll have your own page as well, from what the higher ups are saying. Again, it should be a fun transition time for Rob, as well as for the rest of the employees at Lakeland Media.

Speaking of the employees, from Marc to Sonja to Denys to Jeff to Stevie P. to Jan to Nancy—you guys should receive a medal for putting up with yours truly. These, of course, are the ones I dealt with on a regular basis in editorial. Steve Young, Candace, Lynn, J.W.—you have done a great job with the photography and supplying art for our stories. Really, thanks to all of you. Bill Sr. and Bob Schroeder, Nancy Bowen, Chris Montes, Karen, Lisa in classified ads, Dave Sherman, all of the great artists down in composition—you know who all of you are—thanks for the great ride! It has been a fun place to work. A lot of work, but nonetheless fun. I've really appreciated the opportunity to help out and couldn't have done it without you.

Also want to thank one of our summer interns, Brian Janusch. He had his plate full the last two weeks, with the football preview magazine and all. Nice work, Brian! Now go take some numbers down at Indiana University.

And a special thanks to the folks as well. They've stuck by yours truly through thick and thin and there's no sign of that slipping.

See you guys on the sidelines!

Rob Backus can be reached at 847-223-8161, ext. 132; fax (847) 223-8810; or e-mail sports@lakelandmedia.com.

Moms, football and food go hand in hand in Antioch

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

We all know the word mom carries a pretty special connotation.

In Antioch, it has taken on a little different meaning for, oh, the past 26 years.

Moms and football? You got it. Rather, it's moms, football and lots of food!

The annual Antioch Mom's Football Camp has developed into quite a tradition over the years.

"We start meeting in January to start planning," said Lori Eder, one of the sophomore moms' representatives. Eder has been involved with the Mom's Football Camp for the past four years. She started when her oldest son Ryan, now a senior, entered his freshman year. Her youngest son, Jordan, is a player on the sophomore team.

"I love it. It's the only two weeks where all of the levels can get together, enjoy some good food, and get a little camaraderie and school spirit going."

Basically, there are roughly 20-25 football moms. Broken down even further, there are two moms representing each class. Chris Larsen joins Eder as sophomore moms' representatives, while the freshman moms include Joy Axe and Kathy O'Connor. The senior moms include Joann Sullivan and Wendy Nelson, while the junior moms consist of Diane Hughes and Jan Lyons.

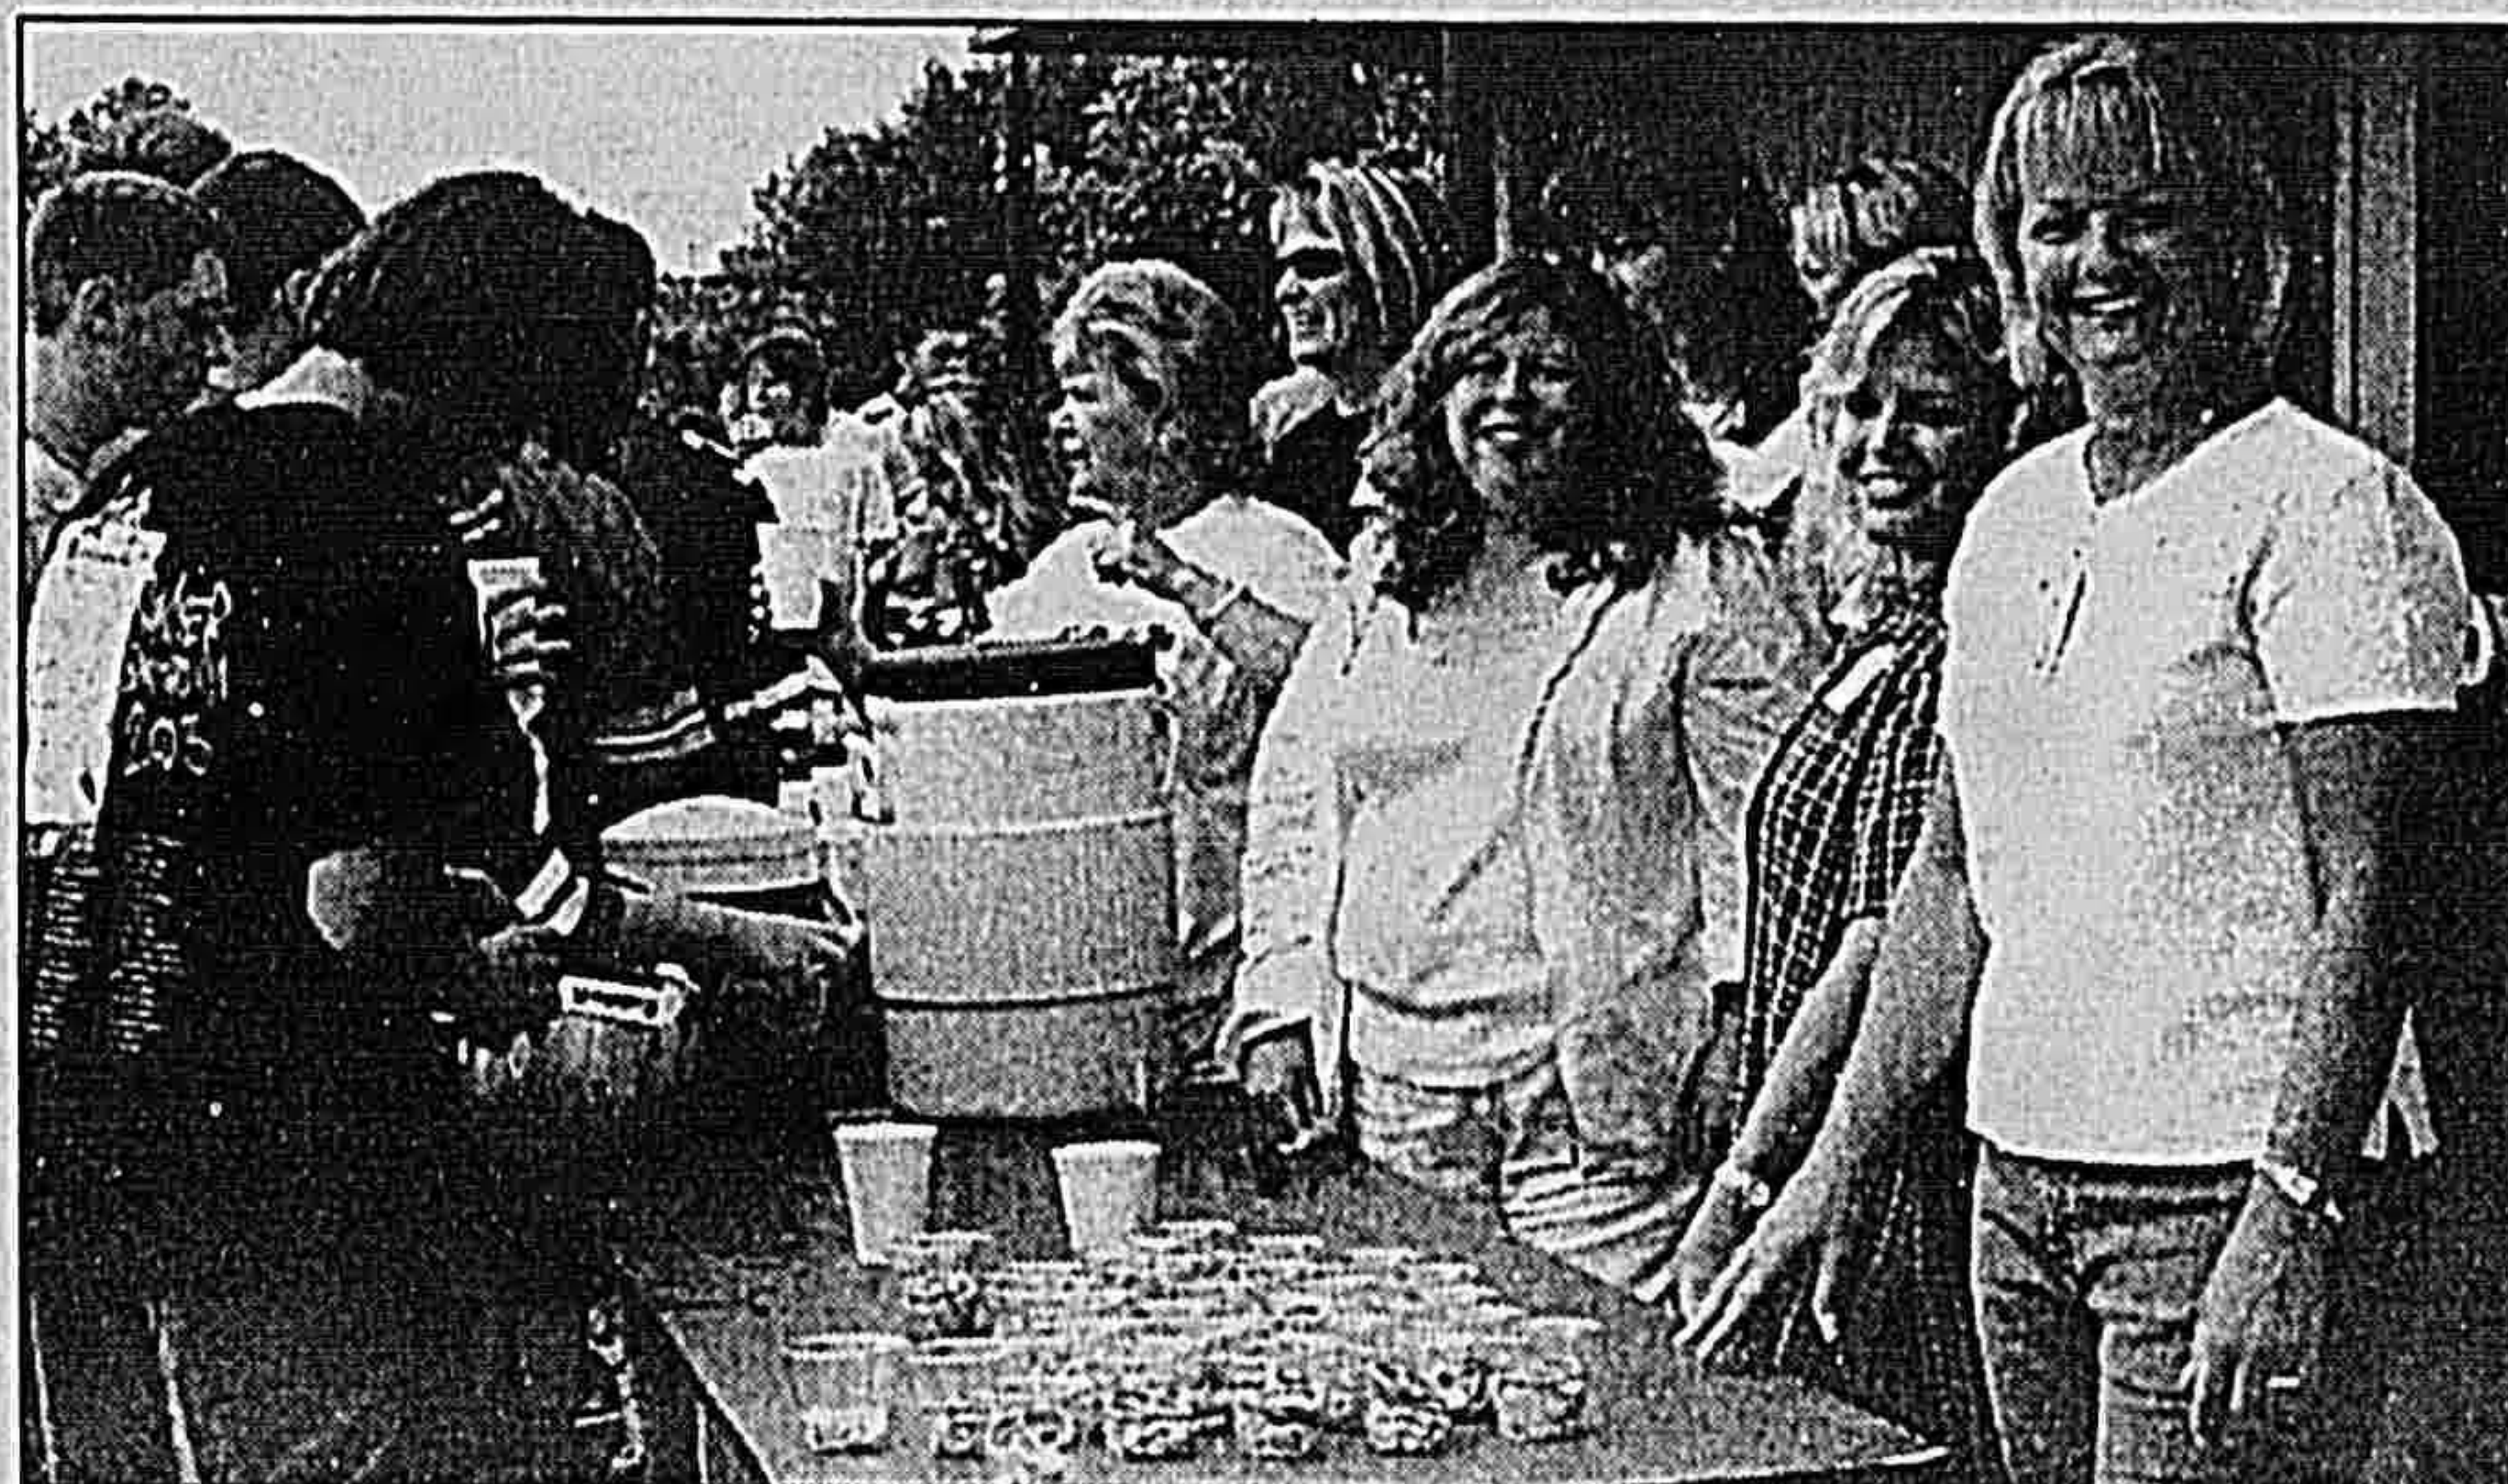

"I know they used to practice in the afternoon, and the kids would eat before that, so they'd be tired and sluggish. So we helped get it arranged where they practice in the mornings, then we feed them," said Karen Johnston, who has been a football mom for the past two years. Her son Josh is a senior and member of the varsity this season. Karen is also in charge of the financial aspects involved with the Moms Football Camp.

The moms provide snacks, including fruit, cookies, chips and Gatorade on regular practice days. The crowning point of the camp takes place on each of the two Friday's following the morning practice.

That's when a smorgasbord of food is set up in the school's cafeteria.

The second and final big lunch get together will be Fri., Aug. 22 at approximately noon.

Items on the menu will usually include

The special tradition has continued where the mom's of the Antioch football players prepare meals and snacks during the first two weeks of camp. salads, hamburgers, hot dogs, Italian beef sandwiches, bratwurst, peanut butter and jelly, Jell-O and plenty of baked goods. Lots of carbohydrates, in other words.

"We usually come in around 7 a.m. to start preparing," said Nelson, whose son Brad is a senior on varsity this year. "On 'snack' days, we usually work about 2-3 hours."

And oh, the trademark of the Antioch Moms Football Camp is mostaccioli, which is good for plenty of carbs in itself. It's been a favorite of the players for 26 years.

"A secret recipe," said Nelson. "I think the key is we use about five pounds of mozzarella. Plus, there's lots of sauce."

The Football Moms duties don't end, though, after the two-week training camp.

"We make various spirit gifts throughout the year, like their jerseys, football socks, gym bags and locker plaques," said Hughes. The football moms also put together a memory book for the varsity players, which includes clips, articles and various memorabilia from the past season.

The recruitment process for aspiring football moms are pretty much year-round. At the end of each school year, the players receive football packets with information on becoming a football mom.

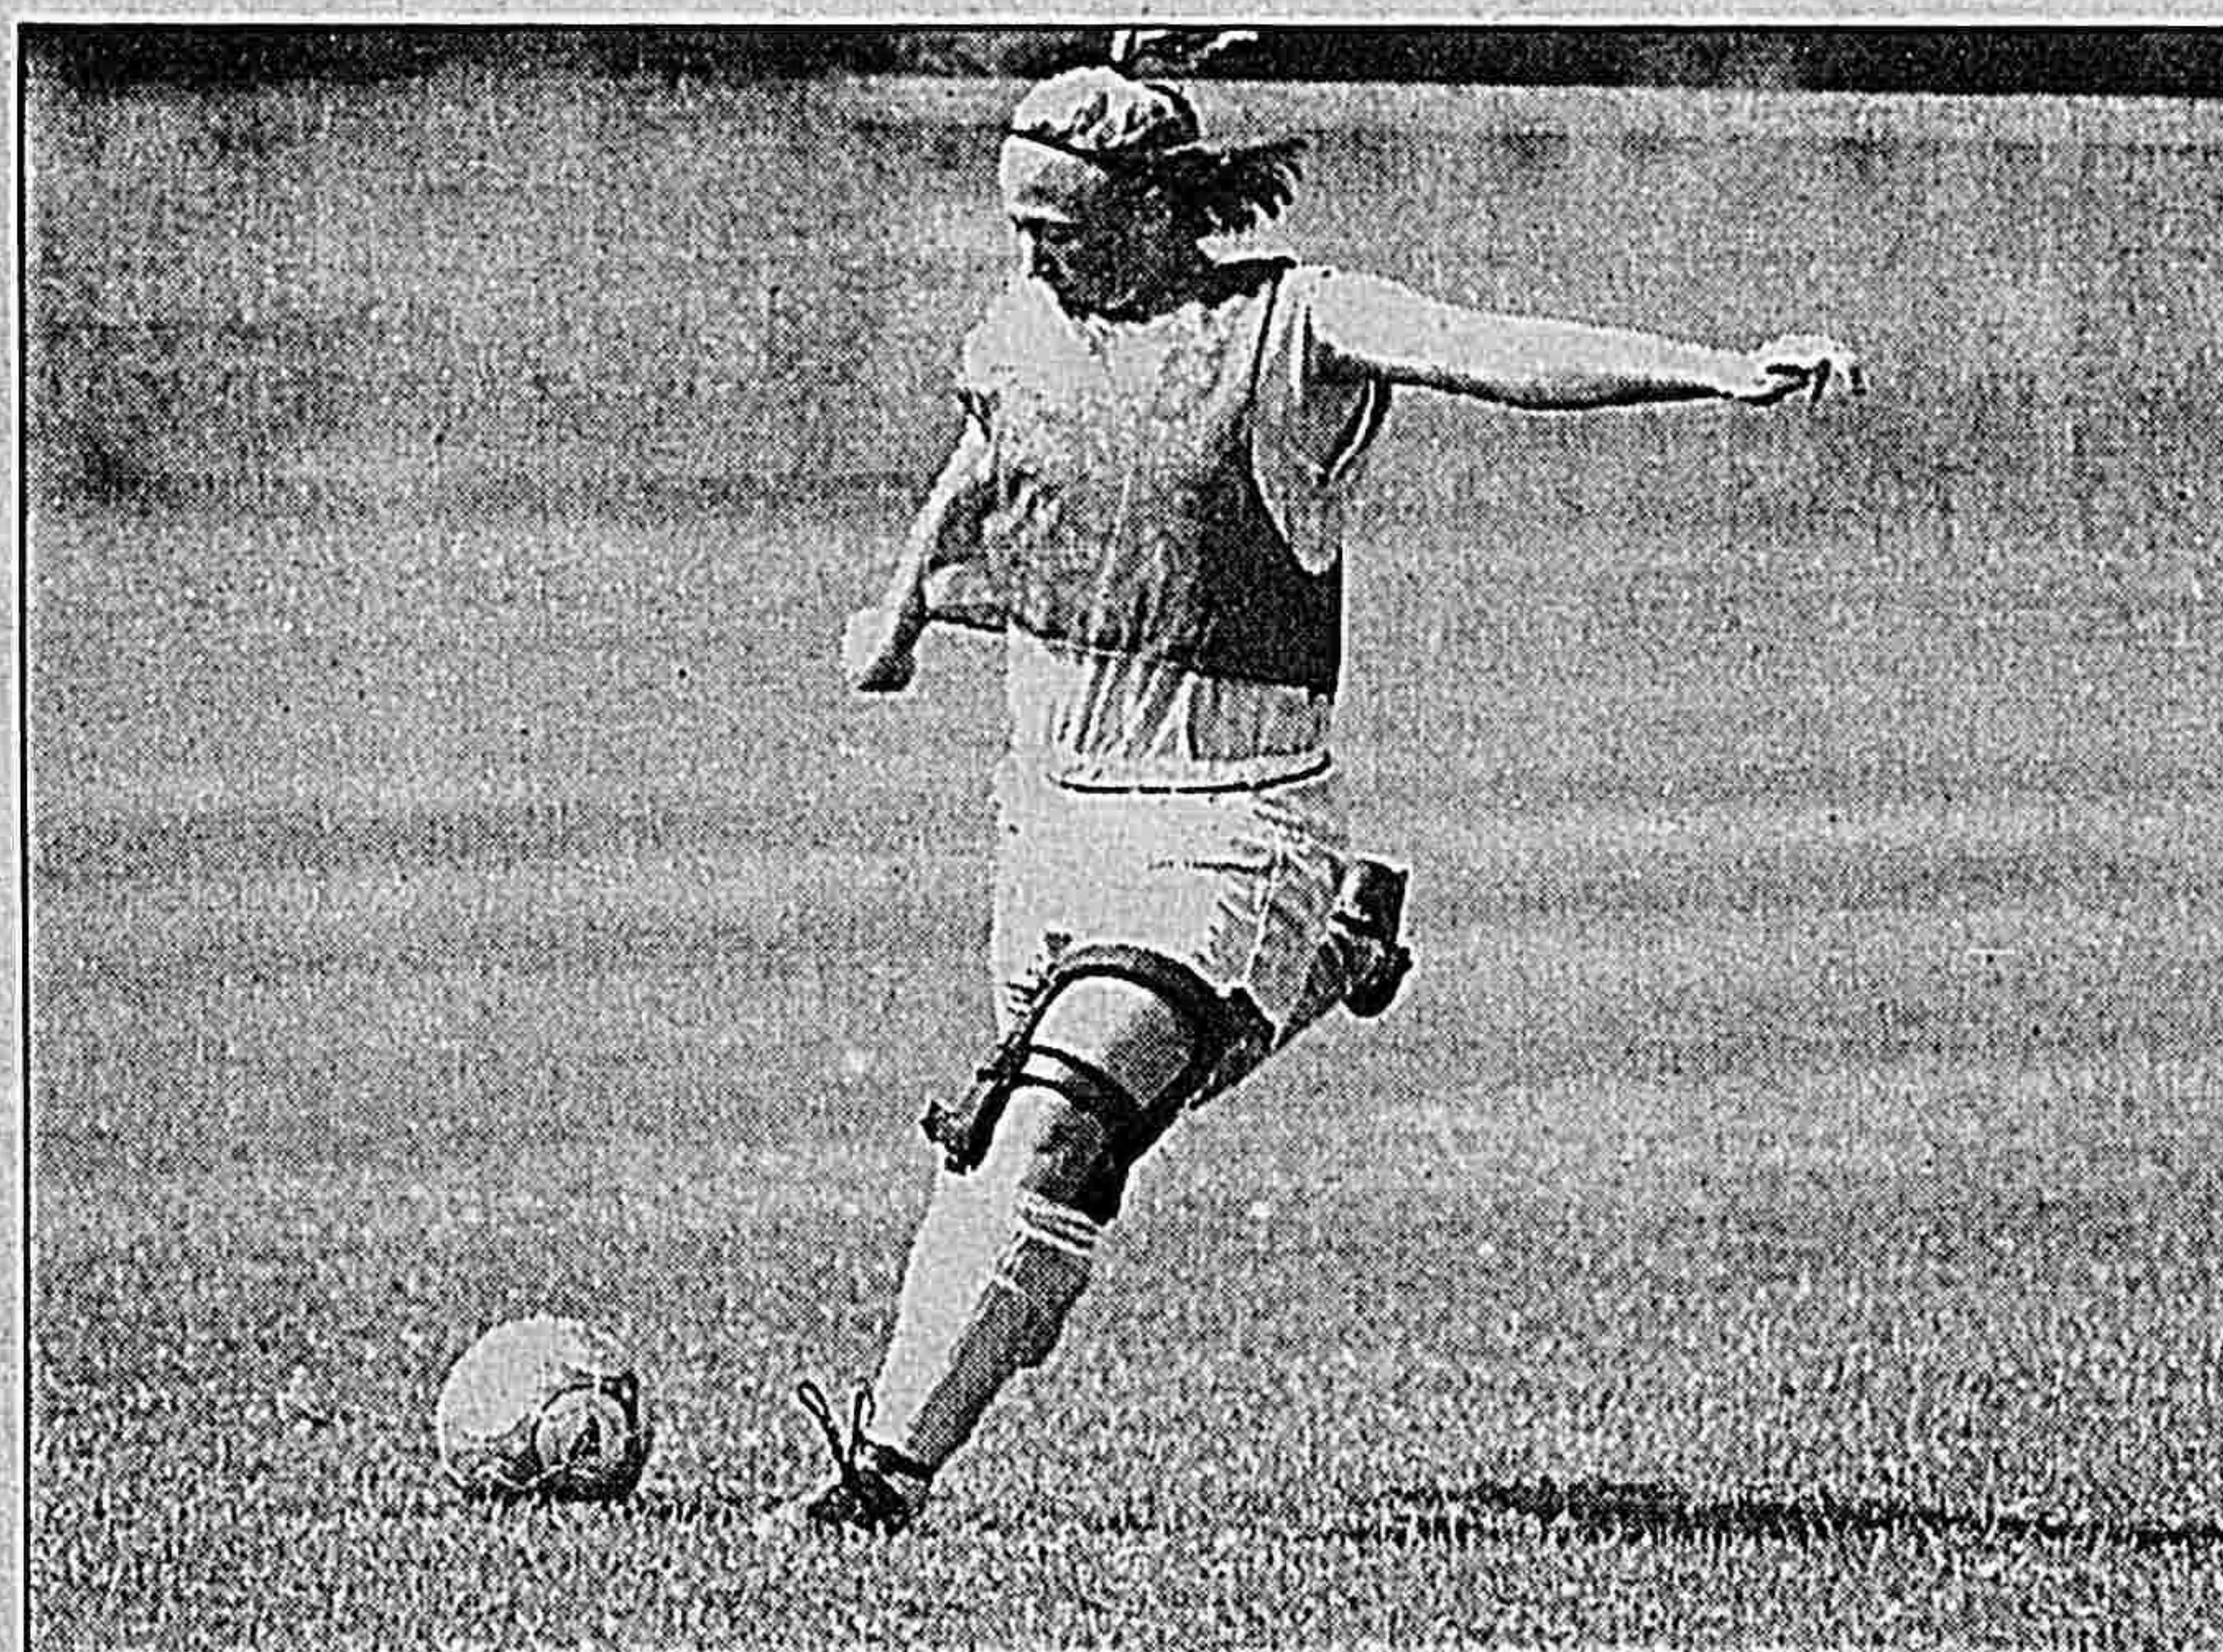

"We're always looking for new recruits," said Eder, who made a phone call and enlisted pretty much immediately. "Overall, it's a pretty tight group. We have a lot of fun. The communication is excellent. There's always a mom that's been a part of the group for a year or to, so they know what to tell any new moms that join us. It's overwhelming, actually, the response we get. Everyone wants to help out."

During the season, the moms prepare lunches before every Friday away game and breakfasts before every Saturday home game. Of course, the world famous mostaccioli is always lingering somewhere on the menu.

All together, the football mom's camp will be feeding roughly 170 players during the two-week period. That figure includes a record

CLC soccer hopes to take care of unfinished business

Staff Reporter

Walking off the field after last season's 3-1 loss to Harper in the state title game, there was a consensus among the CLC players.

"We're gonna win it all next year," was the common quote.

And with nine returning players, including seven starters, CLC women's soccer is definitely looking to win the state title this season.

"We definitely want to win state and the (Skyway) conference title this year," said goalkeeper and former Carmel standout Katie Mical, who finished last season with a 14-6-3 record, including 13 shutouts.

Also returning is star player and NJCAA All-American Nikki Stefani, who had 18 goals and nine assists last season, becoming just the second freshman soccer player in school history to make the All-American team.

"Last season was awesome," said Stefani, a Grayslake grad. "I had great teammates; there's no way I could have done it without them."

Stefani is confident in repeating last year's performance, which saw her fall short of the school single-season scoring record by one goal.

"It looks the same for this year," Stefani said. "There's an awesome group of girls coming in; it should be fun."

Stefani's praising of her teammates seems to be the m.o. of this year's squad, which seems to have a strong rapport.

"It all comes down to teamwork," head coach Dave Beck said. "The players have been cohesive in practice and close off the field."

The players also seem to have a strong relationship with Beck.

"I came to CLC in large part because of Coach Beck," Mical said. "He's a very enjoyable coach; I love playing for him. He knows how to coach a winning team."

On the field, CLC's big advantage will be its experience.

"Having nine returning players is unheard of at the junior college level," Beck said. "That's a huge advantage for us. Plus we have more depth, speed and better conditioning than we had last year."

Although Beck is confident in his team, he still feels it's too early to make any predictions about the season.

"It'll take a match or two to see where we're at," Beck said.

CLC's first match will be against Lewis & Clark on August 24 at 11 a.m. number turnout for the freshman team (72). There are 35 on the sophomore team and 63 on varsity.

The football moms are also always looking for any football 'dads' who would be willing to grill hamburgers and hot dogs for the home games.

Sponsors and local businesses are also an important piece of the puzzle.

Sponsors for the Antioch Moms Football Camp include: Anthony Pontiac GMC Truck, Lyons & Ryan Ford, State Bank of the Lakes, North Shore Trust and Savings of Antioch, Millennium Signs, Thelen Sand & Gravel, Inc., L & L Reporting Service, Inc., Precision Auto Glass, Inc. and The Deli Source.

M.G. & S Sales, Inc. out of Silver Lake, Wis. is responsible for printing the players' T-shirts and jerseys.

And following every meal, there's usually a host of 'thanks, moms' echoing throughout the school. After the Aug. 22 feast, the players present roses to all of the moms for their hard work and effort.

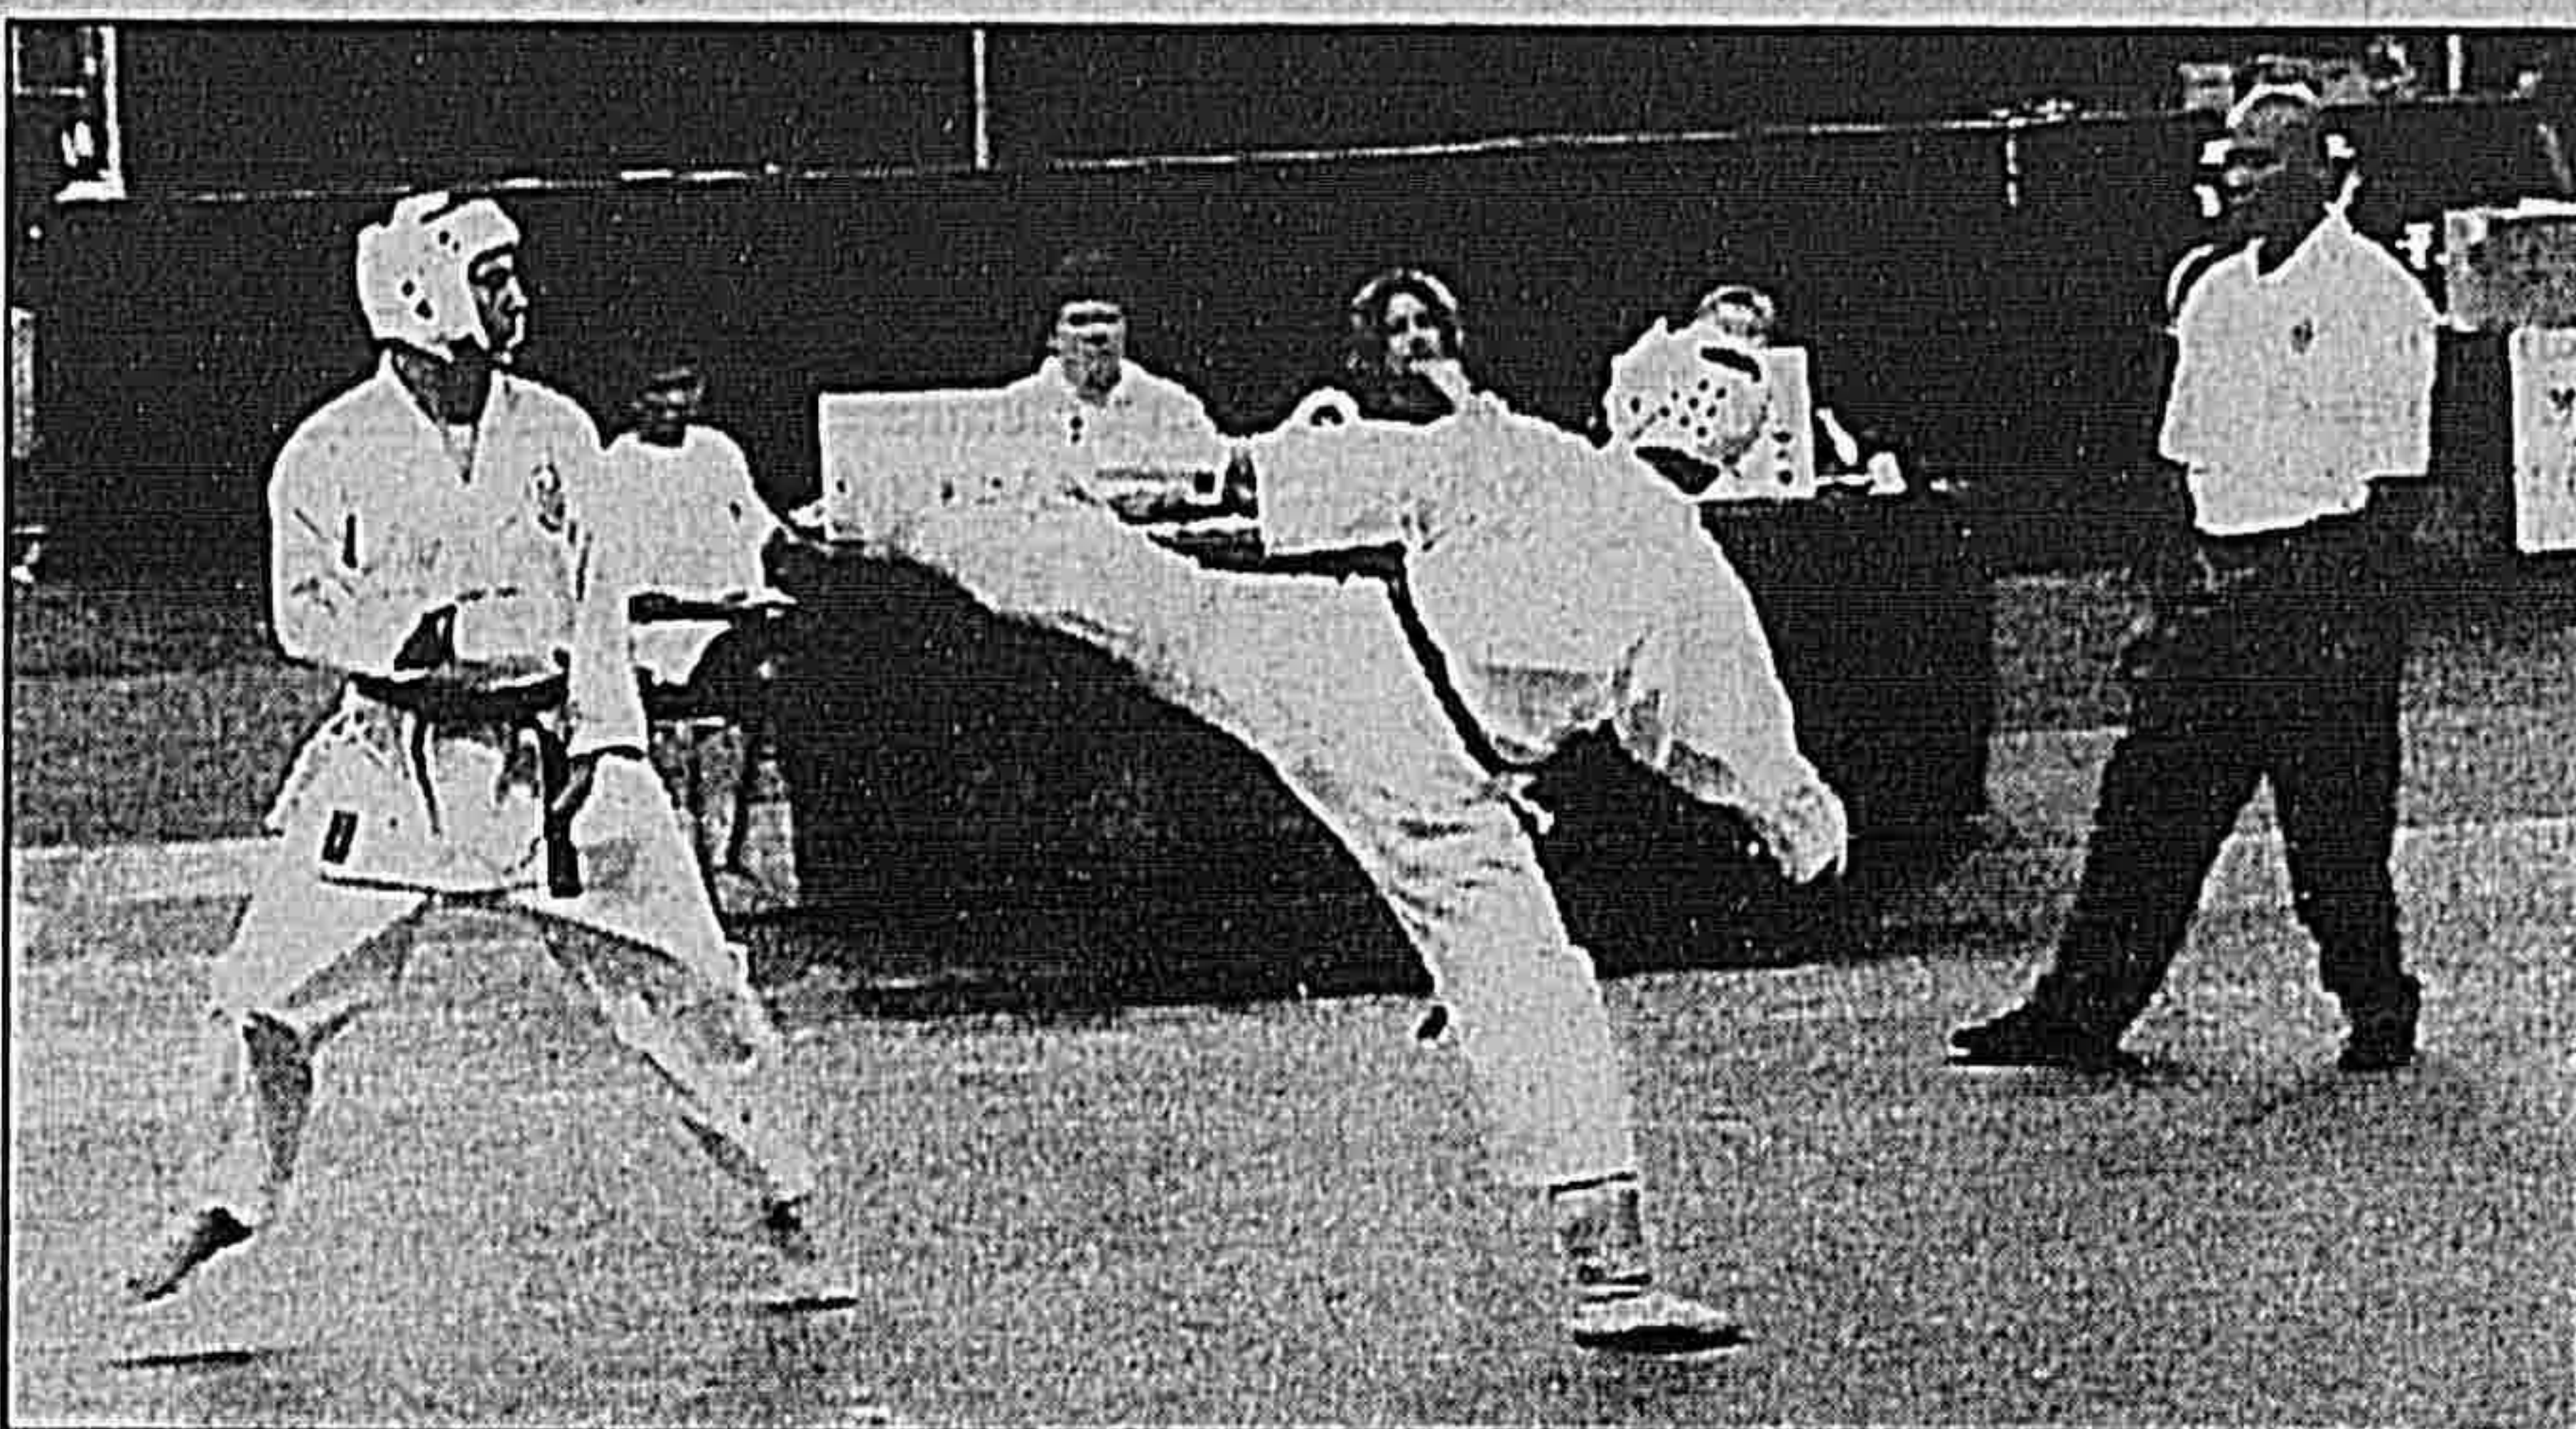

"The boys are very appreciative," said Eder. They have every reason to be.

Fantastic finish

The Northern Lake County fifth-grade HoopStar travel basketball team concluded a successful season by taking first-place at the For the Game/Libertyville Shootout held at the Libertyville Sports Complex. The HoopStars cruised to the title after posting a perfect 9-0 record. The team includes (in no order) Sam Savaglio, Jonathan Duncan, Trevor Erbach, Stephen Brocius, John Androus, Matthew Dickinson, Daniel Perry, Jeff Paul and Nick Mayer. The team was coached by Jack Brocius and Bob Dickinson. The HoopStars finished the summer with a 17-15 overall record.

Antioch Shotokan shines at Jr. Olympics

Antioch Shotokan Karate student Graham Conners (left) waits for the right moment to attack during kumite action at the Jr. Olympics held near Detroit, Mich. Conners, a black belt, wound up taking fourth in both kata and kumite. The referee for the match was Aziz Keder.

There are plenty of fine martial arts schools throughout the county. But one in particular has shown why its one of the tops when it comes to competition.

Antioch Shotokan Karate, under the direction of Owner and Chief Instructor Anna Conners, has made it a habit of bringing home plenty of gold.

Such was the case last week when five ASK students ventured to the Jr. Olympics, held near Detroit, Mich.

Sam Emanuelson came home with a gold medal in kumite. He fought three tough matches en route to the title.

"Sam did a great job," said Conners. "Everyone did very well. They all trained very hard throughout the year. It's nice to see their hard work pay off."

Not to be outdone, Sam's sister Kelly took a seventh place ribbon in kata, or forms. Kelly also earned a bronze medal in kumite.

Blake Harris also had a good tournament. He took fifth in kata but unfortunately, due to an injury, had to withdraw.

"He was doing really well. He won two fights before he had to pull out," said Conners. Adam Refaelov also took a few numbers.

He finished eighth in kata before taking the bronze medal in kumite.

Graham Conners was the fifth member of Team ASK to make the trip. Graham, no stranger to success in competition and forms, collected fourth-place in both kata and kumite.

Overall, Conners was very pleased with her students. "I want to congratulate everyone on a job well done," she said.

Students earn berths to the Jr. Olympics by qualifying at the regional, state and national levels. However, finishing in the top-4 at the regional competition earns you a trip to the Jr. Olympics.

Other ASK news and notes

Antioch Shotokan will be holding belt exams on Sun., Sept. 7 from 1-3 p.m. The ASK campout is also slated for September 19-21. The World Championships will be the next big event for the students. It will be held on Nov. 21-23. Following that will be a tournament in Hawaii, which will take place the week of Nov. 28-Dec. 6.

Happy birthday to Sensei Anna, who will celebrate the occasion on Aug. 24. Tai Jaranson, Dennis Mason, Sage Keyes, Levi Godsey, Christina Folinazzo, and Alex Keller will celebrate birthdays in September.

District 95 accepts invite to join North Suburban loop

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Lake Zurich will be joining the North Suburban Conference in 2005-06.

League superintendents met and voted to allow the Bears to join the North Suburban Conference.

Grayslake and Lake Zurich have applied to the Lake County-based conference for future enrollment considerations. Both are members of the Fox Valley Conference, which includes schools from Lake, McHenry and Kane Counties.

"We opened up the application process until Dec. 1 of last year and two schools applied, Grayslake and Lake Zurich. The NSC superintendents will meet in mid-September and vote," said Dr. John Benedetti, superintendent of Grant Community High School and chairman of the NSC's selection process.

"The opportunity still exists for Grayslake, depending on what they decide to do with their second campus. As of now, it is set for freshmen only."

"We are very pleased to having been invited. This move will be more centrally located for us," said Lake Zurich District 95 spokesman Jan Bednarz.

Fox Valley Conference schools, a McHenry County based league, were notified of LZHS's intent this week.

Lake Zurich joining the league would give it 14 schools, all of them in Lake County.

Another factor that led to the expansion is the opening of Antioch's second high school. The new school will be called Lakes Community High School.

Lake Zurich High had an enrollment of 1,810 last year. Grayslake, meanwhile, had an enrollment of 1,783, according to IHSA "football enrollment" figures.

Formed in 1978, the Fox Valley Conference includes Crystal Lake Central, Crystal Lake South, Crystal Lake Prairie Ridge, Cary-Grove, Woodstock, Dundee-Crown, Jacobs and McHenry.

McHenry is the largest school, enrollment wise, with 2,176, while Crystal Lake Central was the smallest at 1,548.

The NSC is divided into two divisions, the Lake and the Prairie division. Zion-Benton leads the Prairie Division with 2,190 enrollment. This compared to the low of 859 for North Chicago; 1,344 for Vernon Hills; 1,483 for Round Lake; 859 for North Chicago; 1,175 for Wauconda and 1,309 for Grant.

In the Lake Division, Stevenson had 4,137 students; Warren High in Gurnee 3,164; Antioch 2,008 students; Mundelein 1,962; Libertyville 1,802 and Lake Forest 1,643.

According to the 2002 IHSA football schedules, the largest school played by the NSC Prairie was Waukegan (3,817), while the smallest school played was Harvard, with an enrollment of 642.

Both Lake Zurich and Grayslake used to be in the former Northwest Suburban Conference before the Bears and Rams left for the FVC.

Benedetti said that the applicants were asked if they had told their present conference of the intended switch, but said that answer should come from those schools.

"I think the current two-division format has worked out well. The Prairie Division teams have all won their fair share of division titles," said ACHS Athletic Director Steve Schoenfelder.

Grayslake school officials declined comment on the matter.

Free program detects cancer early

Of all the startling facts about breast cancer released by the American Cancer Society, the scariest is that of three million women now living with breast cancer—more than one million don't know it yet.

And it's a disease that doesn't take into account a person's personal or economic background.

However, according to Mary Gallaher of the Lake County Health Department, low income women die from breast and cervical cancer more often than other women.

Gallaher is the health coordinator for the Illinois Breast and Cervical Cancer Program (IBCCP) in Lake County and is passionate in her belief that women should have annual check-ups.

"We need to get the word out. This year the emphasis has been on women 50-64 who have never (had a Pap test for cervical cancer) and a big emphasis on African-American women because their breast cancer mortality rates are higher because they are diagnosed at later stages," said Gallaher.

By JEFF ZACHARY Staff Reporter

The IBCCP is geared toward women who are 40 years of age or older, who are uninsured or underinsured, and whose family income does not exceed 200 percent of federal poverty guidelines.

"It is important that women come in and be checked because this saves lives," said Josie Ellis, a nurse case manager for the Health Department. "And the earlier Cancer is detected the chances for your life span increases."

Ellis added that most low income women do not go to see a doctor unless they are really sick, which is a mistake in the case of breast cancer because it can be deadly.

Free breast and cervical cancer screenings are offered to eligible Lake County women through the Illinois Breast and Cervical Cancer Project, located at the Lake County Health Department and Community Health Center. Through IBCCP, women can receive, at no charge to them, the following services:

- A complete medical exam
 - A clinical breast exam and Pap test
 - Referral for a free mammogram at a local hospital
- Ongoing yearly exams and medical follow-up are also provided.

Lake County women who are 40 years of age or older, who are uninsured or underinsured, and whose family income does not exceed 200% of federal poverty guidelines, are eligible.

Women 35 years of age or older are eligible for cervical screening services only.

Staff are also available to make educational presentations on breast cancer, breast self-exams, and mammography, to community groups.

For an eligibility screening, or to set up an educational presentation, women can call IBCCP Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., at 847/377-8430. The program is located at the Health Department and Community Health Center's Belvidere Medical Building, 2400 Belvidere Road, in Waukegan, just east of McAre Rd.

According to the American Cancer Society there is no cure for breast cancer and a woman has a one in eight chance of developing breast cancer during her lifetime.

This year, it is estimated that 40,000 women will die from the disease and breast cancer takes a life every 14 minutes.

According to a press release put out by IBCCP, the reason that low-income women die from breast and cervical cancer more often than other women is because these women generally do not receive regular mammograms and Pap tests.

As a result, cancers are diagnosed at later stages when it is more difficult to treat them and the chances of survival are less.

The Illinois Breast and Cervical Cancer Program hopes to be able to break that cycle for some women by providing low-income, uninsured women with mammograms, Pap tests, pelvic exams and breast exams at no cost.

Again, to qualify for the program, women must live in Illinois, be between the ages of 35 and 64, have no health insurance and have

Lake County's Illinois Breast and Cervical Cancer Program Coordinator Mary Gallaher, center, along with her staff, public health assistants Kimberly Perez and Maria Moreno, and nurse case manager Josie Ellis, offer assistance to low income women to be tested for the diseases at the Lake County Health Department in Waukegan.— Photo by Sandy Bressner

MATRIX

Don't leave home without 'it'

My husband can't take me anywhere. Letting me tag along at his bank functions is like inviting the school lunch lady to appear on "Wall Street Week". If someone were clueless enough to ask me about market conditions, I'd give them the going rate on a crate of Mac N' Cheese at Costco.

It's not like he hasn't known this since date number one.

You've got to hand it to him, he pulled out all the stops the first time—even the chic restaurant at the top of a glittering glass tower. But it didn't take him long to figure out I didn't pass muster in such a sophisticated venue. I couldn't even get my foot in the right elevator door. As a result, he spent an agonizing eternity playing angry mime in a see-through box as we repeatedly passed each other in our separate glass, fourteen story shafts.

By the time he did catch up with me, I'd developed motion sickness. We ended up holding hands at the local ER, instead of over a romantic table for two.

But this knight in a Joe Banks suit was different than the banker I dated in my college days. That fellow left me in the lurch after watching me re-enact Popeye's chase scene in the "French Connection" with his new Grand Torino.

You see, I was slightly frazzled. I was late picking this guy up from work after taking a small detour on my way from Ann Arbor, Michigan to downtown Detroit.

At least I had the presence of mind to phone him when I realized I was in Toledo, Ohio.

LES
LIFE

Leslie Glazier-Werner

Waving to my soon-to-be-ex beau, I thought I was finally home free as I drove up the ramp of the bank's parking garage. Unfortunately, I'd chosen to enter the exit during rush hour. There was no need for a "Dear John" letter to tell me this relationship was going down the toilet. It was either play concrete pillar pinball with his precious car body or lose my own skin!

So, there's no question I'm fortunate to have a personal banker who's been willing to invest twenty-four years in our marriage. I think he's able to hang in there because of his willingness to compromise. (Now when we go out to a fancy restaurant he just tells the waiter, "She'll have the Happy Meal.")

And, as for his twenty-fourth milestone—I mean milestone—this weekend, he even let me pick the place. The title of my chosen entertainment seemed right up our alley: "My Parents Went to Arlington Heights and All I Got Was This Stupid T-Shirt!" with The Second City Comedy Troupe.

However, it was showing at the Metropolis Performing Arts Centre in Arlington Heights at the ungodly hour of 10:00 PM. Even if it was well after the cocktail hour, my husband wouldn't let me wear my usual black lounging pajamas—they have a flap in the back.

He's a fine one to talk. There's no question you've been married nearly a quarter of a century when your spouse counts necking couples in the audience to help him get forty winks before the show starts.

And I knew I was in trouble as soon as I saw the other theatergoers. Dare I say the "S" word? An army of "sophisticates" sporting trendy clothes, body piercings, and hair dye jobs started closing in on me. I felt like Edith Bunker stumbling onto the set of "Sex in the City".

Much of the sketch material was written to appeal to the "with it" seated around me.

Still, I could relate to the skit about a Mom whose kids give her a gift certificate to a yoga class. But why was everyone laughing when she said her children wanted to help her find her "Chi", and she thought she needed to look under the couch cushions to find it?

My husband gave me that knowing look that comes only after years of really getting to know your spouse. His eyes seemed to say he truly accepted me, even if I had the elegance of Daffy Duck. Or, perhaps, he was just trying to visualize me incognito in a Cousin It wig for our next public appearance.

SPECIAL EVENT

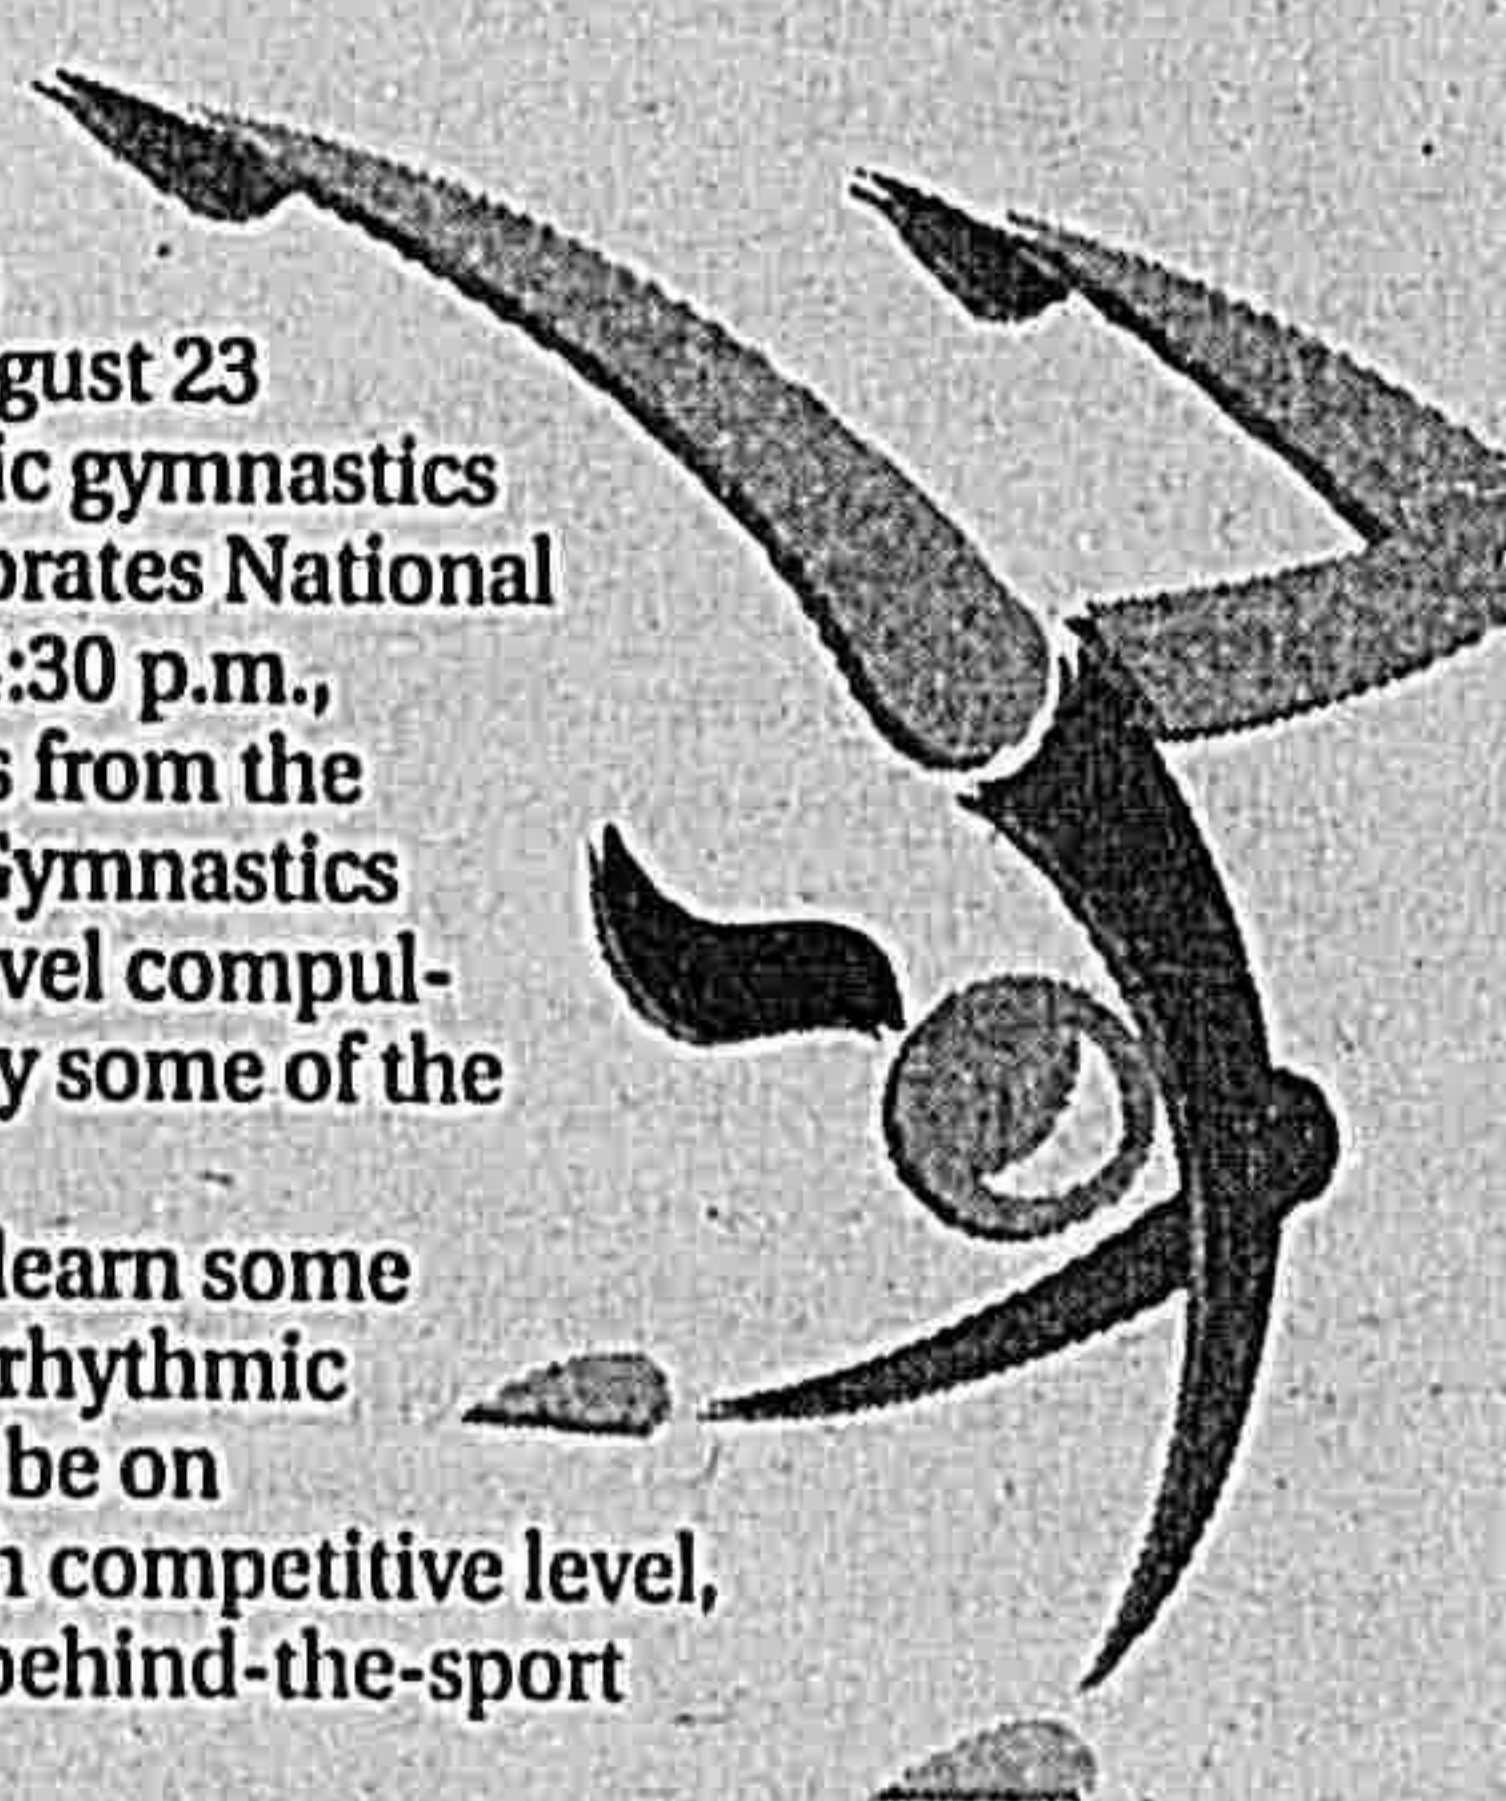

'Rhythmic Day at Northbrook Court' celebrates national gymnastics day

Along with shopping for back to school, visitors to Northbrook Court on Saturday, August 23 will see the Olympic sport of rhythmic gymnastics in action as the shopping center celebrates National Gymnastics Day. From 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., "Rhythmic Day" will feature exhibitions from the nationally-acclaimed Illinois Rhythmic Gymnastics Center, including everything from first-level compulsory routines to Olympic-level routines by some of the top rhythmic gymnasts in the country.

Attendees will have the opportunity to learn some rhythmic gymnastics moves and handle rhythmic equipment. Coaches and gymnasts will be on hand to explain various elements at each competitive level, describe scoring guidelines, and unveil behind-the-sport facts.

In addition to the exhibition and interactive equipment handling, attendees can ask coaches and gymnasts questions about the sport and obtain an on-site aptitude evaluation. Admission is free.

Rhythmic gymnastics combines flexibility, strength, grace and hand-eye coordination. Instead of using hard, stable apparatus such as balance beams and vaults, rhythmic gymnasts manipulate dynamic apparatus that they control...clubs, hoop, ball, rope and ribbon. Although it's continuing to gain popularity in the United States, rhythmic gymnastics is still the women's sport of choice in Europe.

Trolley to transport harbor art fans

Dozens of the outstanding artists in Northern Illinois will exhibit their artwork toward the end of a day long Waukegan Harbor Arts & Recreation Festival on Saturday, August 30.

In addition, high school and college students and those at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts also will have their work on exhibit outdoors or in the event of rain, inside a downtown theatre exhibition hall. Downtown Waukegan is host for many colleges in this capitol city of Lake County.

The festival will include an early morning race, garage sale from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in a multi-story downtown Waukegan garage that overlooks the Lake Michigan harbor and waterfront. People are invited to both shop or to bring their items to sell with a set-up by 7:30 a.m., said Theodore Anderson, executive director of the Waukegan Downtown Association.

There will be a band and other activities including a raffle in the downtown Benny Plaza with its famous now two-year-old Jack Benny statue. He was born and grew up in Waukegan and frequently mentioned the city in his decades as a radio, television and on-stage comedian and musician.

A trolley will transport people to the different events. There will be a free punch card distributed providing discounts for food and merchandise at area stores. The evening ends with a three-hour dance starting at 8 p.m. at the harbor sponsored by the Waukegan Port District.

The art studios and stores in which paintings and other artwork will be exhibited are in a two-block area of the north end of downtown alongside Genesee Street. The beautiful Genesee Theatre in the Art Wauk area is being restored at a cost of more than $15 million as it is prepared for theatre and music to open next year with national quality shows in the performance arts.

At Lake Forest Hospital, we believe that having the clearest possible picture of the problem is key to devising the best treatment. That's why our radiology services are so advanced.

Our new $2-million MRI—state-of-the-art technology—is showing us things physicians hadn't seen before. It's improving the diagnosis of injury and disease in virtually every part of the body, and leading the way to newly sophisticated but minimally invasive treatments. Such as vertebroplasty, an advanced technique for relieving back pain that's unresponsive to other therapies. Better yet, our patients' MRI examinations now take less time and are more comfortable. A CONVERSATION WITH PETER MULLAN

BY GEORGE AND PAM SINGLETON

Some of you may know Peter Mullan as the lead actor in Ken Loach's acclaimed film, "My Name is Joe." He won the award for Best Actor at Cannes in 1998 for that performance. With the release of "The Magdalene Sisters," his first major directing effort, Peter brings great depth, realism and intensity to the portrayals of working middle class people, dealing with many of life's challenges. And he may get a few nods as best director as well.

Rather than taking a jab at an easy target, like a governmental social services adoption agency, Mullan raises many hard and controversial questions about organized religion, always a sticky issue. In "The Magdalene Sisters" we see how capitalism in the name of moral values is subverted. And Mullan examines the mind and heart's turn from the desire for freedom to "loving" the master's oppressive rules, and how the collusion of all these led to the ultimate exercise of sexism.

mate exercise of sexism.

Peter grew up in Glasgow and said, "If a girl became pregnant, they would often just disappear, never to return." For this mortal sin, the punishment was for a lifetime. After the Catholic Church understood that boys will be boys when it came to having sex with girls, "they decided to control the boys by controlling the girls." Those girls considered "too pretty" were banished to places like the convent depicted in the film.

"The Magdalene Sisters" is based on a true story about young women who were "incarcerated" for "moral crimes" against society. They paid for their sins by working, for no pay, 8-10 hours a day, 6-7 days a week, in a commercial laundry that served Ireland's largest institutions. The last Magdalene Asylum closed its doors in 1996.

Although this film is set in the early 1960's, Peter said that "the women would have been released sooner but for the most part, they had no social skills nor knew how to function in society." The funds that were earned from their slave labor have never been accounted for but it is thought that the amount was enough to build a large cathedral.

Peter acknowledged that these types of events are as "unrecognizable now to Ireland as it is to us right now sitting in this hotel room." The change in Ireland was not driven by morality but by "economics and capitalism," he said. Part of capitalism is "a grand hypocrisy." The laundries were "closed down because they were no longer economically viable. What drove the change was the huge market that women presented for fashion magazines, make-up, clothing, etc. It was not a liberalization because it was the progressive thing to do."

"Are you willing to put your faith ahead of your family?" The answer to that question is the core issue, said Peter. It's conceivable to us that a pregnant teenager could be an embarrassment and that she may go "visit a distant aunt" for awhile. If the baby did not come back home with her and was put up for adoption, the family would try to put her sins behind her and move on. It's inconceivable to us that a daughter who was raped or who was just "too pretty" would receive the same punishment. Three of the four girls focused on in the film were institutionalized by their families, usually by the father because his thinking was "this is for my faith, my daughter and for God."

As Denzel Washington was able to do with the factually based story "Antwone Fisher," Mullan also digs deep into family issues. In George's interview with the real Antwone Fisher, Fisher made it clear in a calm, soft-spoken way that the film toned down the events in his life. After seeing this film, survivor Mary-Jo McDonagh stated, "It was worse, much worse than what you see. I don't like to say it, but the film is soft on the nuns."

Proof continues to surface that abuse of human rights with respect to child labor and adults working for sums well below a livable wage continues. This allows consumers in industrialized countries to enjoy shopping bargains from Wal Mart to Nordstroms. There is a new immorality in the name of living well. If we don't have to see it, we can pretend it does not exist. Any person who sees "The Magdalene Sisters" should ask questions of corporate-America about where products outside of the US come from and care enough not to buy them if the people are not treated with the respect the US working force demands. If we are going to export our jobs, it should not be to make slaves of others.

The story of the Magdalene Laundries has been told in Europe with an award winning stage play and an acclaimed British documentary, "Sex in a Cold Climate," but Mullan believed strongly that the asylums should be known across the world. There is enough love, humor and caring in the film that even with the unpleasant events on these fallen angels, the world will know the story and be glad they saw it. This movie is filmmaking at its best.

Overblown 'Menopause the Musical' finds receptive audience

Jennie Linders plows new ground in "Menopause the Musical," celebrating in song and dance a subject women generally discuss among themselves or with their physicians.

In the 90-minute musical parody, Linders confronts change-of-life events head on, poking fun at night sweats, chocolate binges, mood swings and sexual desire (too much and too little).

The Off-Broadway word-of-mouth comedy hit, co-directed by Patty Bender and Kathryn Conte, has now taken up residence at the stage of Chicago's Apollo Theater, whose most recent occupant was the wildly successful "The Vagina Monologues."

Its plot and dialogue are thin and pedestrian. But the 28 pop songs from the 1960s, '70s and '80s, retrofitted with new lyrics, are a stitch, definitely attuned to an empathic female audience.

All the action takes place in New York at Bloomingdale's Department Store, where four women grapple over a black bra on sale in ladies' lingerie. The scenes shift to various locations within the store, from the women's lounge to the jewelry department to a dining room to designer dresses.

The four over-40 characters representing different Baby Boomers going through the so-called "Silent Passage" are Power Woman (Wydetta Carter, who knows how to portray attitude), Soap Star (Lisa Steinman, as the aging actress struggling to hold back the clock), Earth Mother (Judith Day, playing a love child with strong ties to her youth life in the '60s) and Iowa Housewife (Michelle Lee Bradley, as the naive country girl visitor to the big city).

"Heat Wave" becomes "Hot Flash" ("I'm having a hot flash / A tropical hot flash / My personal summer is really a bummer / I'm having a hot flash"). It's amusing the first time but hardly warrants the repetition it gets as the show progresses.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

by Tom Witom

To the tune of "California Girls" come such lyrics as "I wish we could all be sane and normal girls." "Stayin' Alive" becomes "Stayin' Awake," "Looking for Love in All the Wrong Places" is about a quest for food and lines like "It's in His Kiss" evolve into "It's on My Thighs." You get the idea.

The characters later bond over insomnia, cellulite, wrinkles, hormonal imbalance, chocolate cravings and related issues.

Over-the-top or not, "Menopause The Musical" apparently knows how to please its target audience. By the final curtain, a number of women audience members eagerly take to the stage for a closing line dance with the cast.

Ford centennial chow at the Volo Auto Museum

This marks the centennial anniversary of one of America's most established automakers — Ford. And to celebrate, the Volo Auto Museum, together with the Model A Club of America, will be sponsoring a Ford Show at the Museum Sunday, August 24. The show will take place from 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

Ford Model As and Model Ts were the first Henry Ford's successful productions. Model As, Ford's first truly successful vehicle, sent profits shooting up to over 1 million dollars by 1908. But in order to market a car he could mass-produce, Ford quickly turned to his Model T and concentrated on building each car as quickly and inexpensively as possible. Eventually, Ford managed to build each Model T in a mere 90 minutes and for hundreds of dollars less than the competition.

However, the car was only available in black, leading Henry Ford to make his infamous declaration, "You can have it in any color you want, as long as it's black." And the public loved black — by 1926, over 14 million Model Ts were sold.

The Museum is a 30-acre antique theme park made up of five showrooms with 300 collectible and Hollywood cars; four large antique malls with 350 dealers displaying their unique finds; and the Mercantile Mall housing a broad array of gifts and the largest selection of die cast automobiles in the Midwest. The Volo Auto Museum is open 7 days a week from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Admissions are $6.50 for adults, $5 for seniors, $3 for children 6-12 and free for any child under 6.

Waukegan goes Caribbean

Everyone is invited to the lakefront to dance under the stars and the moon with the gentle sound of water against the edge of the Waukegan Harbor from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 30.

A free dance featuring the hit band, The Caribbean Castaways, will be held at the harbor edge on Madison Street as part of a day long event sponsored by the Waukegan Port District, the Waukegan Downtown Association and the City of Waukegan, said Kathy Weeks, special events coordinator for the Port District.

The Caribbean Castaways, who performed at the Waukegan Regional Airport hangar dance August 9, have their own musical style based on the sounds of Jimmy Buffet, Bob Marley and Santana. For those who think they can walk with their back inches from the ground, there will be a limbo contest, said Weeks.

Tiki lamps and the normal harbor lighting will create a romantic lighting scene for what should be a delightfully cool and pleasant evening of dancing and talking, said the Port District official. Food and beverage for purchase will be available from Dockside Dogs and Dockside Ice Cream, which are located at the dance site.

Many of the boaters from the harbor are expected to come and dance away the evening, she said.

In addition to the dance there will be a daylong 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. garage and yard sale in the parking garage overlooking the harbor on Waukegan's Sheridan Road between Washington Street and Grand Avenue. People who want to participate at the garage sale should contact the Downtown Association at 847-623-6650.

And an art Wauk featuring outstanding North Shore artists will be held from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. on the north end of Genesee Street in downtown Waukegan.

New local show invites you to be on TV.

The first 800 lucky children and adults will be part of a live studio audience and participation for the new "TV Magic Show" at the exquisite Raue Center for the Arts Theatre in Crystal Lake.

"It's unlike any cable access show ever. Our "Tonight Show" format is filled with non-stop surprises, like local talent and at home viewer involvement on every episode!" says producer/director and world class magician, mind-reader Nino Cruz.

Producers Nino the Magician and Glenn Chelius agreed to have the taping on Tuesday, August 26. Doors open from 4:30 to 5 p.m. at the theater, 26 Williams St. in Crystal Lake. The press or their families get in at 4:15.

For more details and an informative and fun interview call Nino at 1-877-90-MAGIC anytime.

incomes below certain levels.

Eligible women who enroll will be referred to one of several Lake County health care providers.

Uninsured women who are not receiving Medicaid benefits and who could benefit from this program should call 847-377-8430 to learn about the program and how to enroll.

Women should receive a mammogram and Pap test soon after they enroll. If cancer is detected while a woman is in the program, she will be referred to a special program at the Illinois Department of Public Aid for free treatment benefits.

It is important that women enroll in the program first; if they enroll after cancer is detected, they will not be eligible for these treatment benefits.

According to Gallaher her staff is bilingual and ready and willing to help the Hispanic community.

"A lot of people don't even know this program exists and we need to get the word out," said Gallaher. "It's a really great program."

Round Lake Heights Village Trustee Vickie Faught also would like to encourage women to get yearly check-ups.

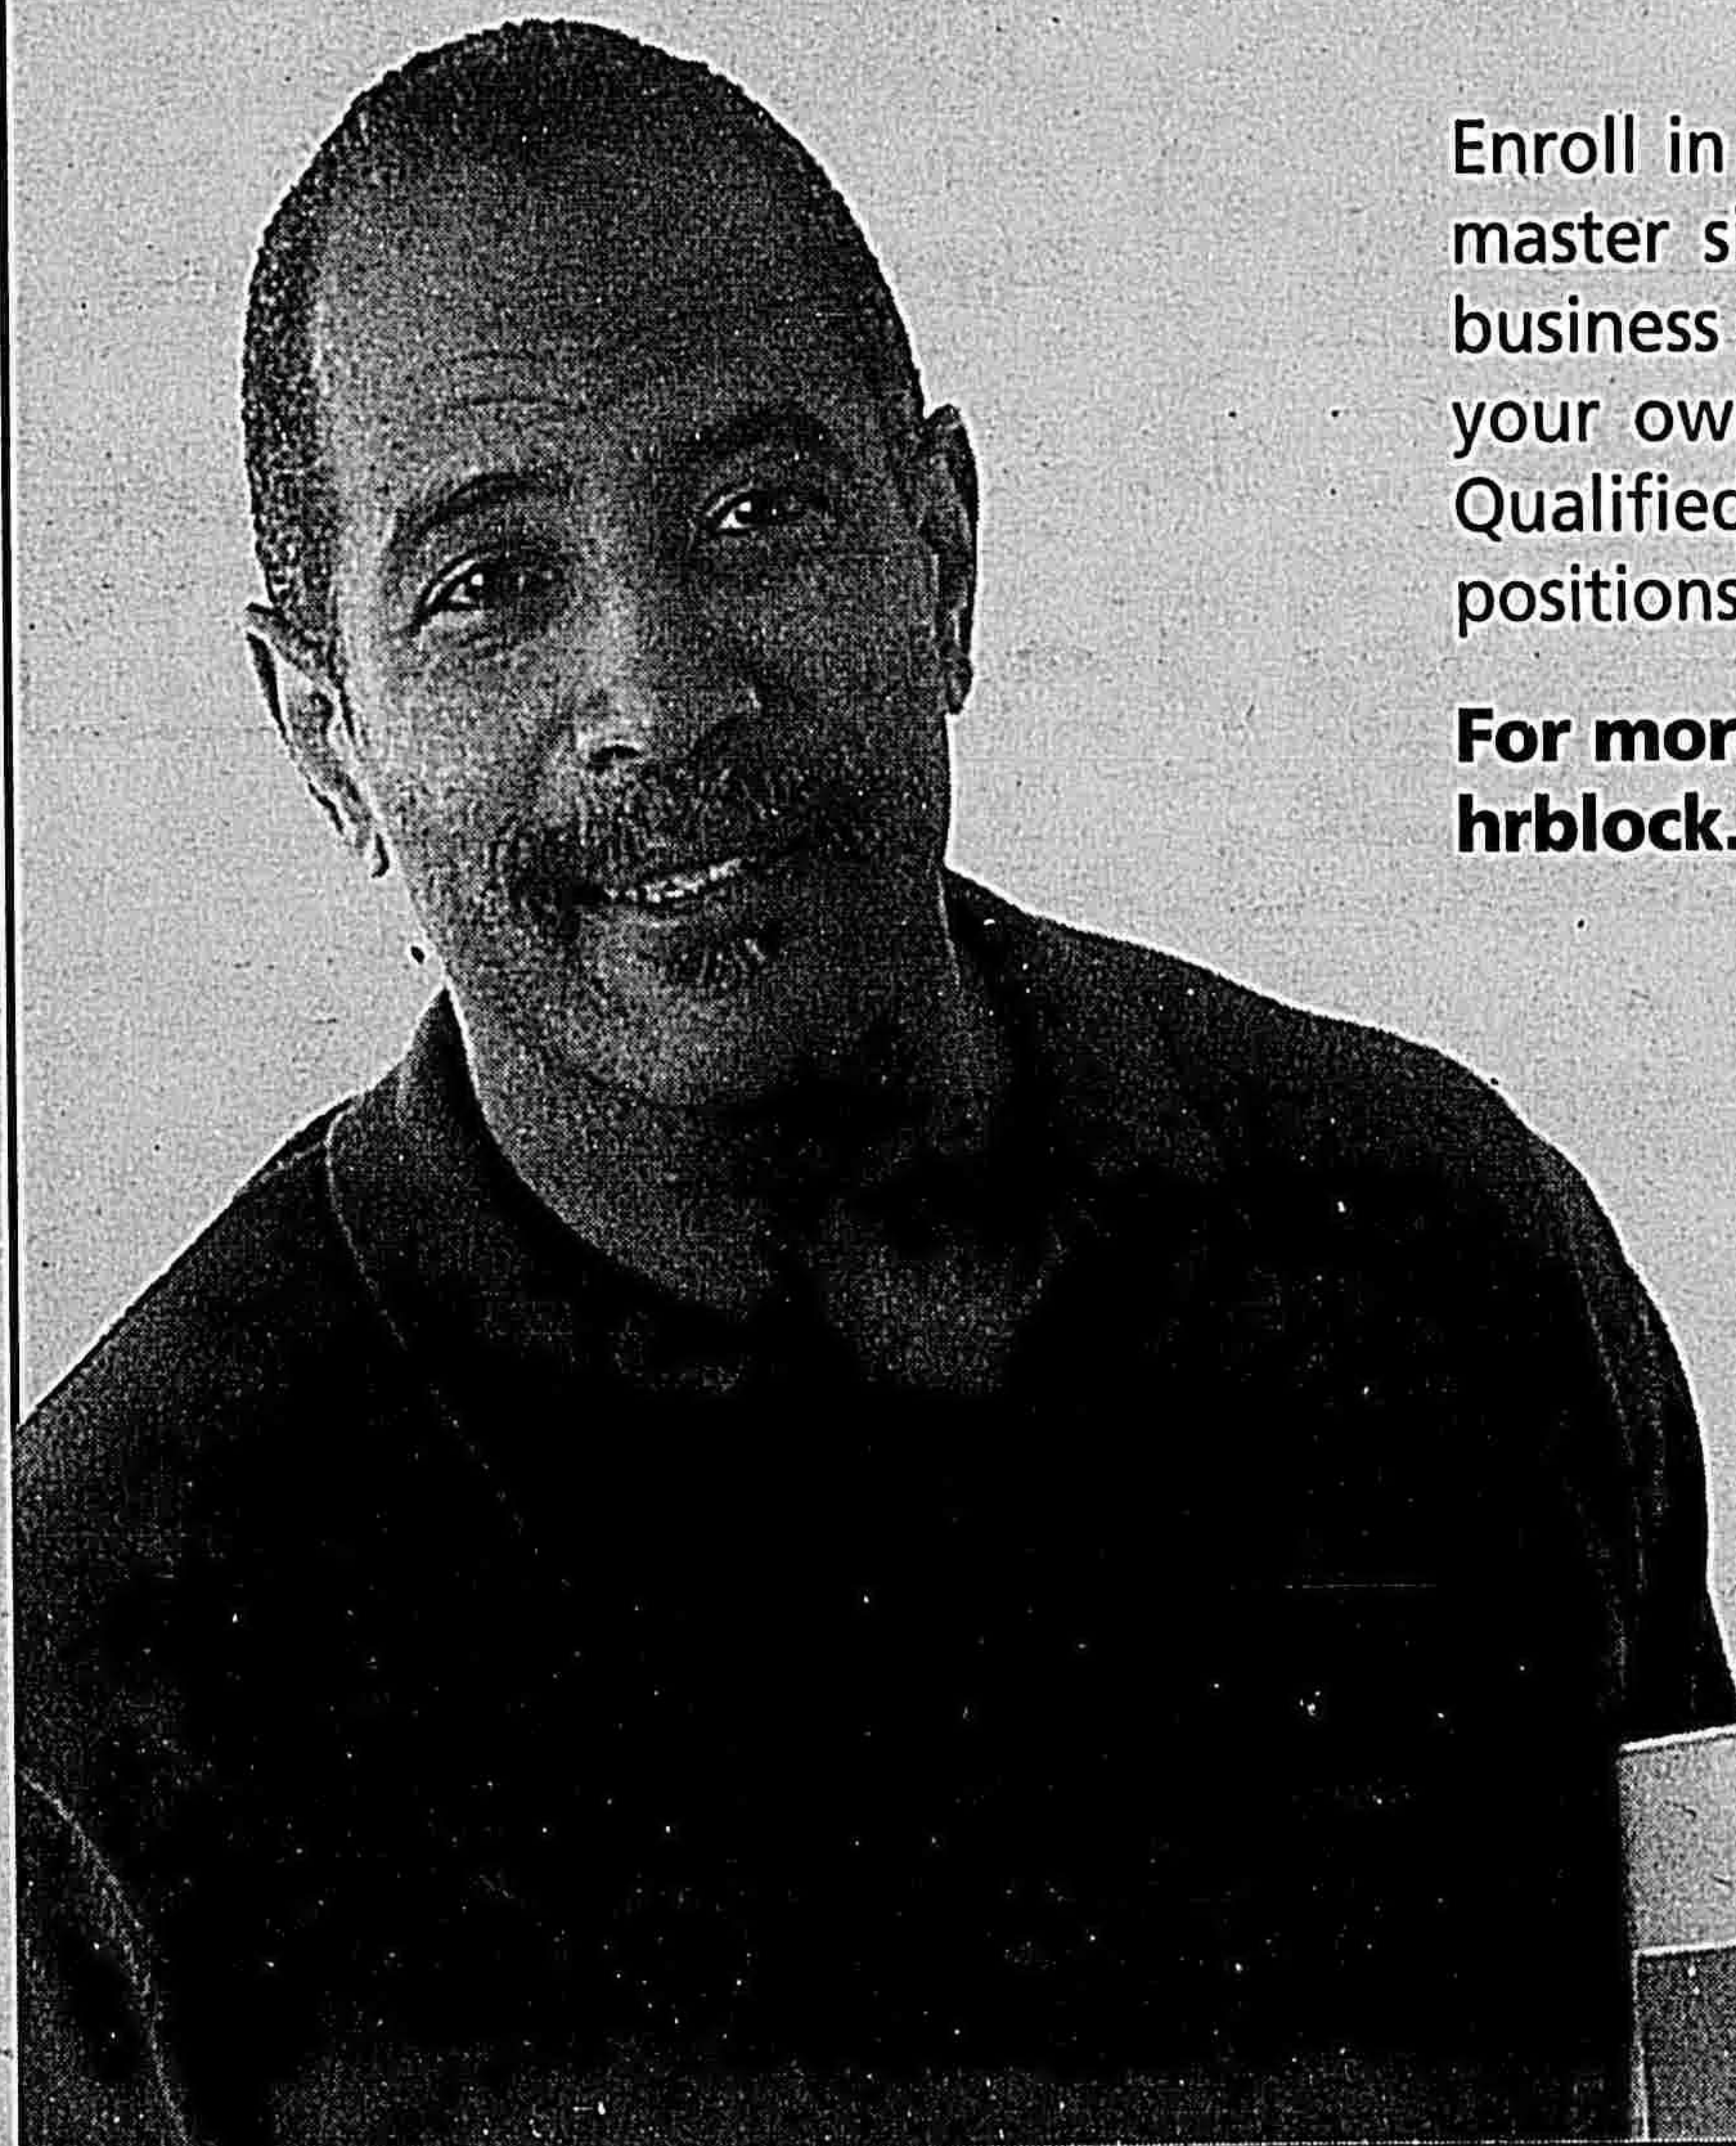

"Personally, cancer has touched my family several times. I lost my step dad and two aunts to cancer," said Faught. "I can count two sisters and one cousin as survivors. My cousin had colon cancer, one sister had melanoma (26-year survivor), and the other sister had breast cancer."

"When my sister was diagnosed with breast cancer she was apologizing to the rest of us because she felt she increased our risk of developing it. She did not increase my risk—if anything, her experience lessened my risk because it has raised my awareness and increased my determination to keep to a regular schedule of screenings and checkups."

Cooperatively funded by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and by the Illinois Department of Public Health, the IBCCP program has screened almost 35,000 women since its inception in 1995.

Robbery ends in arrest

Mundelein—Officers responded to a home invasion and robbery in progress call at the apartments at 1000 E. Orchard Avenue on Aug. 18. At 3:05 a.m. a female resident saw a man with a mask carrying a knife in her apartment. When police arrived Paul Craft, 37, of 1000 E. Assistant attorney general to probe into ex-jailer's allegations

By STEVEN SKINNER
Lakeland Correspondent

Lake County State's Attorney Michael Waller said he requested assistance from the Illinois Attorney General's Office into the investigation of allegations of wrongdoing against Sheriff Gary Del Re, Undersheriff Gary Stryker and former Director of Corrections Charles DeFilippo. The allegations were spelled out in a 24-count letter by former jailer Mike Horowitz, who was fired last May for using excessive force.

"Last week I requested the Attorney General's cooperation in the investigation," Waller said. They will fully partner with our office and will assign an assistant attorney general, who will participate in the investigation and work as an equal. We are going to systematically investigate the allegations in Horowitz's letter and will take the investigation wherever it goes," said Waller.

Lakeland contacted the Illinois Attorney General's office and was first informed by the press office that it could not confirm participation in the investigation and had no knowledge of any request. Melissa Merz, press secretary for Lisa Madigan, later confirmed that their office had indeed received a request late last week from the Lake County State's Attorney's office.

"We received a letter from Mr. Waller and we are looking at the case," said Merz. When asked about partnering with the Lake County State's Attorney's office after Horowitz claims that Waller's office quashed the investigation, which led to DeFilippo's resignation, Merz said, "We believe we carry out our duties in an unbiased and professional manner."

Officials confirmed that Doug Simpson, of the Illinois Attorney General's office has been assigned to

Costs climb as mosquito fight lingers

Raised West Nile concerns costly to villages, county

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

After the West Nile Virus stormed onto the national scene in 2002, mosquito abatement has become a serious health issue.

This has become especially true in Illinois, which led the nation last year with 884 cases and 66 deaths, roughly 20 percent of the nationwide total.

Although there has only been one diagnosed human case in Illinois so far this year, there is a real possibility of increased West Nile activity in the late summer months.

"West Nile is still a concern everyone should be aware of," Lake County Health Department Water Quality Specialist Mike Adam said. "People shouldn't become complacent because of a lack of activity so far."

That's because West Nile, which is carried by the Culex mosquito, is a late-blooming virus, often popping up in late-August or early September.

"West Nile is a late blooming problem," Adam said. "We had a cool summer and it's just starting to get hot. We may see increased activity in the next few weeks."

Staying on top of the West Nile problem is Roselle-based Clarke Mosquito Control, which currently has contracts with the villages of Antioch, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Gurnee, Libertyville, Mundelein, Round Lake and Wauconda.

"Traditionally, we've ended our mosquito abatement in late August or early September," said George Balis, an entomologist with Clarke. "Now we've lengthened our program. We're doing mosquito control well into September or even October."

Air enthusiasts get their way now, despite grumblings from equine lovers

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Democracy shone like the sun for model airplane flyers and clouded over with disappointment for horse riders at the Lake County Forest Preserve District Development, Restoration and Planning Committee meeting.

After hearing testimony from horse lovers, bird watchers and model airplane flying enthusiasts, the committee, at the urging of board member Robert Sabonijan, decided to put off until October a decision whether to permanently close the Lakewood Model Airplane Field in Wauconda.

The field was open in May of this year after years of planning, and at the request of the Skynights Aeromodeling Team.

It was temporarily closed on June 9 after the Forest Preserve District received several complaints from equestrians about potential safety concerns because the airplanes were flying close to a horse trail.

On July 8, Forest Preserve President Bonnie Thomson Carter, Commissioner Diane O'Kelly and the district staff met with representatives from both the riders and model airplane users. They reached a compromise that resulted in the buffer zone between the flying field and the trail being increased from 200 to 400 feet.

The airfield was then reopened on July 12.

After reopening, the district received more complaints from equestrians and because of some other factors including the fact that the field is near a Sand Hill Crane habitat, and after talking with the IDNR, the Forest preserve officials recommended closing the field permanently.

Several members of the Skynights attended the hearing, including club president John Earley and Round Lake Beach Lt. Leonard Revelle, and rebutted charges that the field was a danger to horses and riders.

Lt. Revelle told the committee that he once was a Forest Reserve District Ranger and had on occasion met both horse riders and fliers at Van Patten Woods and said that

Governor signs education initiatives

Gov. Rod Blagojevich signed a pair of education initiatives, sponsored by State Sen. Susan Garrett, (D-Lake Forest) into law. The initiatives provide early education programs and college grants.

"Emphasis on early education is critical for Illinois schools," said Garrett the bill's chief sponsor in the Senate. "We need to do everything possible to prevent high-risk children from falling behind and provide them with the opportunity to be successful. Children who receive early educational support clearly have a better chance of future success."

Senate Bill 903 allows school boards to establish and operate summer kindergarten programs. According to Garrett, extended kindergarten schedules will promote a higher level of developmental readiness to allow students the opportunity to acquire a greater level of skills during the regular kindergarten session.

learning opportunity that we can, especially during their earliest years—the period when we can make the biggest difference in shaping their best possible future," Garrett said.

House Bill 1119 creates the Silas Purnell Incentive for Access Grant Program.

The new law amends the Higher Education Student Assistance Act, giving grants to freshman college students who have limited or no financial resources of their own. The grants will be awarded in amounts of $500 and $1,000 respectively, to be determined by the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC).

there was no problem with the two groups coexisting.

Lt. Revelle told the committee, "There is no conflict between the equestrian using Lakewood trails and the model aircraft. Let's make that perfectly clear. The issue here is perceived property rights (of the equestrians). The trail is so far removed now from the flying field that even the largest engine is of no consequence." He added that members of the club have talked to the nearby stable owner who said the flying club is no problem. "The simple fact is if the riders follow the rules established by the district we would neither have conflict nor contact," said Lt. Revelle.

Club president Earley said, "If the equestrian follow the establish routes they will not be anywhere near flight areas." He added that the excess noise that horse riders are complaining about may actually be the male cicada—an insect about the size of a cricket—as it rubs its back legs during a routine mating ritual.

Speaking for the riders was Wauconda resident Nancy Jacoby. She said, "I live on the south edge of the forest preserve and have lived there for 25 years. I love the nature, I love the animals, the birds, and I love to go there to get away from everything. I have a very hectic job and a lot of pressure and this is my outlet. (Now) I can not at anytime during any day during the daylight hours walk in the forest preserve and enjoy the quiet. I live about a half-mile from that airfield and let me tell you the airplanes sound like a neighbor with a lawnmower. I also ride horses and have had horses there for 25 years. A horse is a flight animal and if it sees something that spooks it, it's going to run. And there is nothing that rider can do about it. I agree the airplane people deserve to have a spot in the forest preserve but not there. Not where the horses are, not where the Sand Hill Cranes are."

After the meeting, Sharon Noga, of Park City commented, "It was a terrible decision. I thoroughly believe that horse and airplanes don't mix. When you have airplanes flying over your head there is danger."

MOSQUITOS

According to Balis, local villages such as Gurnee have been long-time customers of Clarke, which has been in business since 1946.

Initially, however, Clarke was contracted to exterminate mosquitos for improved quality of life.

Since the outbreak of West Nile in 2001, however, health concerns have been a major reason for increased mosquito abatement.

"We started an increased program last year as West Nile crept into the area," Mundelein Assistant Village Administrator Mike Flynn said. "Originally, we did one treatment per year, but now we do several treatments and five to seven sprayings."

The major problem areas for West Nile are catch basins, which are major breeding grounds for mosquitos.

"We have a few thousand catch basins here in Mundelein," Flynn said. "And we've increased treatments on all of them."

Adam, for one, is encouraged by the steps many municipalities have taken to combat West Nile over the past two years.

"Most townships and municipalities have done a good job with mosquito control and public education programs," Adam said.

the case and has contacted Horowitz. Horowitz said he had no comment other than "I am just hoping for a fair and thorough investigation."

Waller said that some of the allegations made in Horowitz' letter have already been investigated and are without merit. Horowitz alleges that Stryker used his influence to obtain a motor boat at less than the fair-market value, in a no-bid auction from Joseph Vogler, Public Guardian of Lake County.

Waller said that case has been investigated and the allegations were deemed without merit. "That boat was purchased through a sealed bid process and it was in fact determined that Stryker paid more than the fair-market price for that boat," said Waller.

Waller also said the allegation that Stryker had used a department credit card to purchase $281.11 worth of cigars was untrue. Waller said that the purchase from the cigar company was for, "A smoke-eater for a break room in the jail where smoking is allowed."

However, a source inside the jail told Lakeland that the smoke-eater in question, a Pureflow model E-9372, suddenly appeared in the break room last Friday. "I have no knowledge of that," said Waller. He did say that he would make note of the appearance of the device and would look into it. He also wanted to know why someone in the jail who has information would not come forward.

According to conversations by Lakeland with jail workers, they will not come forward out of fear of reprisals or being fired. Waller said that if threats were made, they need to be brought to light. "We have assigned Rick Eckenstahler, from the sheriff's department, to investigate at the jail," said Waller.

After a verbal confrontation at WKRS 1220-AM last week between Del Re and Horowitz, Horowitz claims he was threatened by Del Re and subsequently filed a police report with the Waukegan Police Department.

Waller said that he had heard about the incident at the radio station but that he is, "Unaware that a police report had been filed in the matter."

School refrain has new words

School days, school days, good old Golden Rule days." The old song seems to be hopelessly dated. Well, the Golden Rule has been under assault for a long time. And school days definitely aren't what they used to be.

Even as children stream back to school, who would have thought only a few months ago that some Wauconda elementary school kids won't be riding bikes to school this fall or Mundelein High students won't be able to get a can of pop at the vending machine? Or find only apples, bananas and sugar-free muffins in the snack machines?

Brace up for other changes. Because we all know they're coming. Ah, the refrain of the old song lingers. "Reading, and writing and arithmetic, taught to the tune of the hickory stick." The hickory stick is long gone. And some parents insist reading, writing and arithmetic is fading fast.

"School days, school days, no more bike'n school days. Apples, bananas and toasty muffins, washed down with fruit juice and mountain water." Altogether now, class. Let's try those new words.

Listings for jobs trending upwards

Many years ago, we devised our own "leading indicator" for the economy, particularly the local economy. We simply count the help wanted ads in the classified advertising section of the 11 Lakeland Newspapers (and competitors, too). If the ad count is up and trending up, good. If the ad count is down and trending down, not so good.

Economists probably would shudder at this simplistic system, but there are basic factors in the help wanted picture that provide worthwhile information. In a nutshell, business people with both big and small enterprises only hire people when they need them or they are confident about the future and are planning expansion.

For several years, the number of job seekers in Lake County has far exceeded the openings. The employment picture here has been similar to elsewhere. Tight. We've been absorbing the media barrage of economic bad news like everyone else. In the past couple of months, though, rays of sunshine are breaking through. And, lo and behold, the help wanted listings in the local media (including Lakeland Newspapers) have picked up. There's our old tried and true "leading indicator" at work!

Over the weekend, economists reported industrial production rising at its fastest pace since January. Some of them see a "fighting chance" of growth exceeding four percent by the end of the year. They also mentioned inflation remaining subdued.

The jump in output provides an optimistic note for national recovery. When people are producing they're also consuming. The two go together. Understanding the equation is easy. Making it work is the hard part.

Bullseye scored for open meetings

Changes in the Illinois Open Meetings Law doubtlessly will take awhile to sink in and get used to. Public officials abused and flouted the law for so long by conducting all sorts of public business behind closed doors that compliance will be awkward if not outright testy.

As he signed the changes known as the "Verbatim Bill" into law, Gov. Rod Blagojevich commented, "The public's right to know is something that's good for our country and good for our state." Bravo, Gov. Blagojevich. You've got it right!

As re-written, the Open Meetings Law still provides for three major exceptions for officials to discuss business beyond the eyes and ears of the public: pending litigation, land sales and personnel matters. What is now required will be a video or audio recording of the, let's call it what it is, secret meeting. The verbatim record will be available only to the courts for use if litigation arises.

Citizens attending village board meetings and school board meetings now will have the good feeling that their representatives are "sticking to business" when they excuse themselves for an executive session. It will be interesting to see if there are less "executive" (secret) sessions held at local governmental meetings.

Some municipal attorneys shamefully counseled officials to use executive sessions for discussions that might not go well in public. The Illinois Municipal League, to its discredit, for years has fought attempts to strengthen the Open Meetings Law.

The governor hit a bullseye when he exclaimed at the bill signing, "...it will go a long way toward helping give the public more confidence in the way their elected officials govern."

VIEWPOINT

Lincoln's a school with no summer off

Four-hundred-thirty boys and girls got a jump on the back to school movement when they returned to classes July 28 at Lincoln School, Mundelein, Lake County's only school operating on a year around calendar and one of a handful of schools in the midwest open year-round.

They are pupils at a school for children in grades kindergarten through fifth.

They have the same curriculum, attend the same number of days (180), ride the same buses, and are held to the same standards as approximately 2,000 other students in elementary District 75.

The big difference for the Lincoln kids is that they go to a school with a "continuous learning calendar." Lincoln's new principal stressed that the description "year-round school" isn't used.

Shawn Walker succeeded Shirley Anderson, who retired after establishing the school eight years ago when Lincoln was reopened after being closed during an era when Mundelein's elementary school enrollment was declining.

"Everyone loves the system," exclaimed Walker, who was principal at a traditional nine-month school in the system. "The children, the parents, the teachers. Lincoln is a great place."

Walker, who put in for a transfer to take over at Lincoln, pointed out that the school was established for "educational reasons," not to extend facility use or serve as a budget stretcher.

OK, Lincoln is a little different. The extended grade school family likes the nine-week instructional segments that are separated by three-week breaks. Even during the breaks (the first one begins Sept. 9), there are "inter-session classes," technically enrichment programs for which parents pay an extra fee. Lincoln teachers construct their own curriculum to fit age grouping of first and second graders, and third, fourth and fifth graders. Parents see the opportunities for fall and winter season vacation and day care flexibility as definite advantages.

Another difference: Lincoln is air-conditioned.

District 75 officials play down tendencies to look at Lincoln as elitist even though there are features that promote parental involvement, efforts to stress individuality and performance and more use of modern technology.

"We use different methods," exclaimed Principal Walker, to explain what sets the school apart. Lincoln isn't an experiment, but the school continues to draw attention from educators both elsewhere in Illinois and other states interested in finding out how a school with a 12-month calendar operates.

Berries late

Northern Illinois' best known berry patch, Glantz Raspberries on Washington St., will have a later than usual picking season this year. Mid-September. A cold spring and a rainy July held back growth. The berries are part of the Glantz Family Winery Cellars that attract customers from far and wide. The raspberries grow near the College of Lake County.

Final cook out

Saturday, Aug. 30, will be the final U.S. Coast Guard cook out of the season for the public at Waukegan Municipal Airport, 3550 N. MacAree Rd. For a $10 donation, a picnic lunch is available while visiting aircrews and viewing equipment used by the Coast Guard for rescue work. The Coast Guard rotates crews every two weeks during the summer duty assignment at Waukegan handling search and rescue work both on Lake Michigan and the Chain O'Lakes.

Voters can be conned by slick sound-bites

We often hear about scams that take advantage of people, many against senior citizens. It is a sorry truth that people can be too easily conned, often unwittingly.

It came to my mind that some of the slick con jobs are pulled off by politicians. They are usually bankrolled by special interests with "deep pockets."

Let me tick off a few of the con jobs that the public fell for in a big way. Remember way back when a guy by the name of Newt Gingrich, of ultra-conservative fame who rose to the high office of U.S. Speaker of the House, championed the cause of "term limits" as a way to bring new life to government? His gimmick was aimed at replacing Democrats in Congress with "new-blood" Republicans who vowed not to run for Congress when they reached the subscribed term limit. The scheme worked, and Congress was taken over by the new breed.

THROUGH

Why do I say this was a con job? Have you noticed that you never hear term limits mentioned anymore? Do you know why? The answer is simple. Except for a few conscientious politicians who lived by their word, the majority of those who swore to live by a term limit pledge reneged on their promise. They ran on a phony "no term pledge" and pulled off the scam on voters. I have always believed that elections are the way to limit terms of public officials, but someone who runs on a term limit platform and doesn't live up to that pledge is a phony political hypocrite.

At about the same time that the "term limits" rage was sweeping the country, two other "can't miss political principles" were starting to spread wings. Remember when the loud themes were "balanced budget amendment" and "federal deficit reduction?"

Who can be against presenting balanced budgets, only spending what you have? And who can be against attempting to eliminate the federal deficit? Well, ultra-conservatives somehow believe that only Republicans can do it, and they conned a lot of voters into

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Democratic women to spur registration

Aiming to become a new force in Lake County politics, members of Lake County Democratic Women have selected an executive director and launched a voters registration drive.

She is Judy Armstrong, who has a strong business and civic background and political savvy earned in an unsuccessful bid for state representative last year. She was defeated by Bob Churchill. Armstrong is a Round Lake resident.

Formed in June, the organization has 100 dues paying members, including 10 men. "Yes, we've got some male members," reported one of the founders, Recorder of Deeds Mary Ellen Vanderventer to avoid any gender problems.

Vanderventer said members will be certified by the Secretary of State to process voter registrations. Future meetings will be devoted to hammering out policies and goals, including an endorsement policy.

Democratic Women is sure to endorse Vanderventer, who will be running for reelection in 2004.

Members raised $10,000 at their first meeting held in Mundelein.

Vanderventer predicted that Armstrong will be an outstanding leader in the part-time (for now) position. "Judy is dynamite," the recorder declared.

Opponents grumbling

Wauconda Mayor Jim Eschenbach is unruffled over continuing criticism of village growth policies despite rumblings about opponents forming a party to run against his team in 2005. One village problem that hounds Eschenbach is inadequate sanitation for new homes being built.

Reasons for waiting

There's plenty of reasons why Antioch Mayor Taso Maravelas is in no hurry to fill the vacant position of economic development director who also serves as downtown manager. One is salary saving. Another is interacting with the planning and zoning department. The mayor also is confident of handling growth issues himself. The question also has been raised that an aggressive downtown manager will be at cross purposes with commercial expansion on Antioch's eastern boundary. There is a candidate for the job who might be presented Sept. 15.

Coroner support

Coroner Jim Wipper can count on the support of a majority of Lake County

Armstrong: Tackles project to up Democratic voter count.

Rudny: Charting trip to reorganize school funding.

funeral directors when he runs for election in 2004. Wipper is expected to be unopposed in the March primary. Democrats are screening candidates for coroner with an eye toward nominating a medical doctor. Wipper, long-time deputy coroner, was appointed to succeed Barbara Richardson who retired earlier this year.

Breaking trail

Gurnee Mayor Don Rudny is trodding a trail others fear to tread—education funding reform. So far he has convened two successful informational meetings. Sept. 18 Mayor Rudny expects to name a 20 person community study committee. Rudny got interested in school funding when he campaigned for election two years ago.

Room to grow

One of the displays at a reception celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of Churchill, Baumgartner & Quinn was a composite photo of members of the 1957-58 Lake County Bar Assn. All the photos fit an 10x12 inch photograph, the last time such a composite was made. With the increase in the number of practicing attorneys in Lake County, photos would fill the wall of a normal size room today.

Busy fall schedule

Fred Foreman, president of the Lake County Republican Federation, is promising a busy fall season. Saturday, Sept. 20, the GOP support organization will hold its annual breakfast meeting at Conway Farms, Lake Forest. State Treasurer Judy Barr Topinka likely will be keynoter. In October, the second annual fall dinner will be held. Foreman said a nationally known speaker will be featured.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Crane not helping

The need for improvements in our congressional representation grows stronger each session. Congressman Phil Crane has been the Trade Subcommittee Chairman since 1995, a committee member since 1989.

Crane's goal of free trade has done little to help create jobs in Illinois. While he insists that free trade opens markets which produce jobs for Illinois workers, he fails to report how many jobs and manufacturing companies are lost as a result of the influx of imports into our country, particularly the "Made in China" goods.

According to the 'Economic Policy Institute' (www.epinet.org), an Oct. 23, 2002 brief states that between 1994 and 2000, Illinois jobs created due to exports was 153,399 Illinois jobs lost due to imports was 292,936, a net loss of -139,537.

Granted, we enjoy the lower costs on these goods. However, given the actual facts of the pros and cons of "free-trade," most would prefer to protect jobs as opposed to enjoying the minimal savings on these purchases.

David W. Phelps
Crystal Lake

Editor's note: David Phelps has announced that he will campaign for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 8th District in the 2004 primary.

Waukegan over-steps

There is a dead end private road called Jensen Lane which is approximately 975 feet long and runs north from Guerin Road in Lake County. There are a total of six homes on the east and west sides of Jensen Lane none of which are in the City of Waukegan nor pay any taxes to Waukegan. One of the six homes is in the Village of Green Oaks and the remaining five are in unincorporated Lake County.

However on Aug. 14 five Waukegan trucks with a bulldozer came to Jensen Lane and proceeded to tear-up the entire paved road. Why?

What, if any, resident of Waukegan asked for this private road to be demolished and rebuilt and who was the Waukegan official that OK'd the project and sent their street department of the City of Waukegan to do the work at expense of Waukegan's taxpayers?

This road has a long history of remaining a private road due to its shoddy construction and not being in conformance with width requirements for any dedication to any municipality.

At one point all the six homes were in the Village of Green Oaks; however when Green Oaks refused to maintain the non-conforming private road the homeowners de-annexed and went into unincorporated Lake County jurisdiction with the idea that Libertyville Township would maintain their road. This balloon busted when the township also refused the non-conforming road.

Since I own the majority of the property that abuts the west side of Jensen Lane I have not seen any legal action, including public hearings and notices that would have been required if this private road was to be annexed or dedicated to the City of Waukegan.

Common sense would dictate that no municipality would accept dedication or annex a non-conforming road particularly when none of the homeowners on either side of the road were in/or paid taxes to said municipality. This action by Waukegan has a bad smell to it and should, in today's economy, enrage the Waukegan taxpayers who must pay the freight for this illegal action.

Credibility problem

Why did Mayor Don Rudny fire Suzy Studebaker? Oh, that's right. He didn't fire her. She "resigned." Rudny would have the public believe Suzy Studebaker agreed to this "willingly." Looks to me like Suzy's going to get paid not to work for us for a whole year so Rudny can claim an "agreement."

If he called it a firing, the village would have the National Labor Relations Board crawling all over it—and it would get even more expensive. Of course, village Attorney Rudy Magna would have loved that, more fees for the greedy one. Seems an awful lot to me like the "passing through" a charge for recycling pick-up, but not ready calling it a tax increase. It sure sounds to me like the mayor has a credibility problem that's getting worse and worse by the day.

Great job

After reading some of the letters to the editor against President Bush, I can only conclude that these writers have a personal vendetta against the President. For all of the angry words written against the President, most of these letters do not contain any substance.

In their desire to slam the President, critics take the extreme position against the liberation of Iraq. For some unexplained reason, they object to the removal of Saddam Hussein. For those who have forgotten, it was Saddam Hussein who left behind mass graves of murdered Iraqis. For those who have difficulty remembering, it was Saddam Hussein who sent his armies to attack Iran and Kuwait. For those who forget their history, it was Saddam Hussein who developed mustard and nerve agents, and used those chemicals against Kurdish civilians.

Saddam Hussein was more than a guy with a funny mustache. He was a dangerous dictator who refused to account for missing chemical weapons. He harbored dangerous terrorists, such as Abu Abbas, the leader of the hijackers who murdered wheelchair bound Leon Klinghoffer by pushing him over the edge of a cruise ship. He was caught lying to United Nations weapons inspectors, having been caught red handed in 1996 maintaining a biological weapons lab at Al Hakam.

Not satisfied with being wrong on Iraq, many of the President's critics have criticized the President for our stagnant economy.

Unfortunately for the naysayer, our economy is beginning to turn around. The Bush tax cut gives working families tax relief that increases spending and creates the economic activity that produces jobs. For example, 34 million families with children will receive an average tax cut of $1,549.

The result is an economy that has recently seen growth at a rate that is almost double of economic forecast for the last quarter. Within six months to a year, the unemployment rate will drop as the recovering economy adds jobs as a result of increased economic activity.

President Bush has done a great job leading us through difficult times and deserves our continued support.

Illegal drivers

In police beat, out of the 11 arrests listed - six people were driving on revoked, suspended, or with no licenses, and no insurance.

How do we stop these people—and make the roads safer?

One arrest was for doing 50 miles an hour in the K-Mart parking lot.

The Round Lake area police are doing a great job catching and arresting them - but they just pay their fines and drive away.

My first idea was to take their cars, but I would settle for a three strike rule—three tickets for no valid driver's license, or no insurance - or DUI's—then take their cars.

With the growth we have in our area, there are more cars, more children, and more stupid drivers.

The Illinois law states you must have insurance on your car. I think when you have to get your sticker for your plates you should be required to show proof of insurance, and a valid driver's license.

Check the recorder

As Lake County Recorder, my office is experiencing the impact of 40-year low mortgage rates. And while this is a wonderful opportunity for homeowners, it also creates an incredible amount of work for everyone involved in the real estate industry. I have seen first hand how banks, lawyers and mortgage companies are working round-the-clock to assist their customers in today's hectic market. Since Jan. 1, the volume of transactions received in our office has broken all past records.

The Recorder's office is the first source of the most current information on property ownership and financing. Last year we completed a computer conversion, which now allows us to process documents more quickly and efficiently. The minute a document is recorded, it is searchable on our computers. Our new computer system also allows us to record thousands of documents a day, alleviating prior backlogs.

As always, if you are looking for current or past copies of your deed or mortgage, please remember to check with my office first. We will be happy to provide you with a copy of any recorded document by mail, fax, e-mail or in person at our office. You may reach us 847-377-2575 or e-mail your request to recorder@co.lake.il.us believing it, too, at the same time that they were "selling" the term limit con job.

Former President Bill Clinton has been blamed for just about everything, but he ought to at least get some credit for bringing about some fiscal sanity to the country. He balanced budgets, but is there anyone who really thought that the huge federal budget would be erased?

Isn't it almost unbelievable that we have gone from erasing that deficit to amassing record deficits? Next year's deficit will approach $500 billion dollars.

We can't put all of the "blame" for the massive deficit on 9-11. We surely can't resolve the deficit crisis by passing a $350 billion tax cut. The tax cut handed out two years ago didn't spur the economy or plug any budget holes.

Isn't it strange, though, that just as the sound-bite "term limits" has fallen off the radar screen, so has the sound-bite "reduce the federal deficit" escaped the political landscape? Can it be that it depends on "whose ax is being gored?"

The next con job has the sound-bite "recall election." The deep pockets who are promoting the California recall fiasco have their sights on other states that have Democrat governors.

At last count, the sagging economy has caused 47 of the 50 states to be "sinking in the red." This is not just a California issue; it is an issue all over the country. It won't be solved by multi-millionaires financing recall elections in selective parts of the country.

The California recall election is just the last of these "political con jobs." If it weren't, the same people who are "fronting it" wouldn't just be screaming about the budget deficits there. Wouldn't their loudest screams be aimed at the federal deficits? I guess on that one they would plead "the fifth amendment."

When it comes to scams in business, they always say, "let the buyer beware." With regards to these "political scams," I say "let the public beware."

Shanell Jensen & Clifford Mitchell Jr.

Shanell Jensen & Clifford Mitchell Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton and Sue Jensen of Island Lake announce the engagement of their daughter Shanell to Clifford Steven Mitchell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford and Sophia Mitchell Sr. of Antioch.

The bride-to-be is a 1999 graduate of Wauconda High School, and a 2002 graduate of Haskana Institute. She is employed as a designer at the Oak Grove Salon and Day Spa in McHenry.

The groom-to-be is a 1996 graduate of Antioch High School. He is employed as a custom home builder and is owner of Northwest Suburban Construction.

Helping your child with homework

For parents of elementary and school-aged children

Families play a vital role in educating America's children. What families do is more important to student success than whether they are rich or poor, whether parents have finished high school or not, or whether children are in elementary, junior high, or high school. How to help: Show you think education and homework are important.

Children need to know that their parents and adults close to them think homework is important. If they know their parents care, children have a good reason to complete assignments and turn them in on time. There is a lot that you can do to show that you value education and homework.

Set a regular time

Finding a regular time for homework helps children finish assignments. The best schedule is one that works for your child and your family. What works well in one household may not work in another. Of course, a good schedule depends in part on your child's age, as well as individual needs. For instance, one youngster may work best in the afternoon after an hour of play, and another may be more efficient after dinner (although late at night, when children are tired, is seldom a good time).

Outside activities, such as sports or music lessons, may mean that you need a flexible schedule. Your child may study after school on some days and in the evening on others. If there isn't enough time to finish homework, your child may need to drop some outside activity. Homework must be a high priority.

You'll need to work with your elementary school child to develop a schedule. An older student can probably make up a schedule independently, although you'll want to make sure it's a good one.

It may help to write out the schedule and put it in a place where you'll see it often, such as the refrigerator door.

Some families have a required amount of time that children must devote to homework or some other learning activity each school night (the length of time can vary depending upon the child's age). For instance, if your seventh-grader knows she's expected to spend an hour doing homework, reading, or visiting the library, she may be less likely to rush through assignments so that she can watch television. A required amount of time may also discourage her from "forgetting" to bring home assignments and help her adjust to a routine.

Pick a place

A study area should have lots of light, supplies close by, and be fairly quiet.

A study area doesn't have to be fancy. A desk in the bedroom is nice, but for many youngsters the kitchen table or a corner of the living room works just fine.

Your child may enjoy decorating a special study corner. A plant, a brightly colored container to hold pencils, and some favorite artwork taped to the walls can make study time more pleasant.

Remove distractions

Turn off the television and discourage social telephone calls during homework time. (A call to a classmate about an assignment may, however, be helpful.)

Some youngsters work well with quiet background music, but loud noise from the stereo or radio is not OK. One Virginia junior high school history teacher laments, "I've actually had a kid turn in an assignment that had written in the middle, 'And George Washington said, "Ohhhhh, I love you."' The kid was so plugged into the music that he wasn't concentrating."

If you live in a small or noisy household, try having all family members take part in a quiet activity during homework time. You may need to take a noisy toddler outside or into another room to play. If distractions can't be avoided, your child may want to complete assignments in a nearby library.

Set a good example

Children are more likely to study if they see you reading, writing, and doing things that require thought and effort on your part. Talk with your child about what you're reading and writing even if it's something as simple as making the grocery list. Tell them about what you do at work. Encourage activities that support learning—for example, educational games, library visits, walks in the neighborhood, trips to the zoo or museums, and chores that teach a sense of responsibility.

Back To School

Kick off a stress-free school year

For many children, the first day of school doesn't just mean new teachers and new friends — it can also be a source of anxiety with homework and tests just around the corner. Fortunately, starting the year off right can help minimize a child's stress levels throughout the year.

Back-to-School Tips (for each new school year):

- Get back in the routine. Ease transition from lazy summer days to the structure of the school year by re-establishing bedtime, mealtime, reading and homework routines.
- Set education goals. Help your child set goals at the very beginning of the year. Whether it is striving for an "A" in reading, handing in homework on time or preparing for tests well in advance, setting goals can help set the routine for the new year.
- Develop a relationship with your child's teacher. Take the time to meet your child's teacher at the beginning of the school year. She can be the best source for information about your child's scholastic performance.
- Homework routine and place. Designate a specific time for homework and help your child discover a regular, quiet place where he can study. Make sure that the area is free from distractions and that study tools are at your child's fingertips.
- Stay on schedule. Your child should keep a schedule of all classes, assignments and key dates, such as project deadlines and test dates. As part of that schedule, she should include specific times for studying, projects and extracurricular activities.
- Emphasize organization. For some students, having color-coded binders for each subject helps them stay on track throughout the school year. Keeping notes organized helps test preparation later in the year, so work with your child to determine the best method for him.

- Encourage learning at home. Promoting learning outside of the classroom helps children perform better in school. To nurture reading skills spend at least one hour per week — 10 to 15 minutes a day — reading with your child. To enhance math proficiency, try letting your child help plan the next family trip and encourage him to compute miles, cost of gas, expenses for food, hotel and entertainment.

Transition Year Back-to-School Tips

- Visit the school. If your child is changing schools, make a special trip together to visit the school before the first day of classes. Checking out the new classroom and teacher before school starts will help ease feelings of anxiety and get your child into the academic routine.
- Discuss changes in routine. Talk with your child about how the routine for his new school year may differ from the previous year. It can be difficult for children to adjust to changes in schedules and workload. Will there be more homework assignments? Will he have more than one teacher this year?
- Provide extra support. When starting the new school year, especially if it's a transition year, a little extra support can't hurt. Talk with your child about her fears regarding school and maintain an open dialogue throughout the year. Discuss what subjects she's anticipating and any areas she finds particularly challenging.
- Transition into Kindergarten.

Kindergarten is your child's introduction to elementary school and a first opportunity to learn basic math and reading skills, not to mention the routines and expectations of group learning. As a parent, you are your child's first teacher. The skills that he learns from you — how to get along with others and follow and listen to directions — will help him start the year off right.

- Transition into middle school and high school. Transitioning from elementary to middle school and from middle to high school brings many questions and concerns. Organization becomes even more important in middle and high school when your child must keep track of multiple subjects, homework, teachers, classrooms and books. You can help him to reduce stress by giving him a calendar/planner to help him organize these new items and encourage good study habits.

Learn bus safety for back to school

Back-to-school time has arrived once again. An important factor to consider when classes resume is the type of transportation your child will use to travel to and from school. Many parents opt to send their children on a school bus because of the convenience it provides. If you choose to utilize your school district's bus service, it is important to follow their regulations for student pickup.

While all districts have distinct guidelines as to where a bus stop can be located and who is eligible for a ride to school, there are certain safety tips that all school bus riders should heed when stepping aboard. Here are some precautions courtesy of the Harrisonburg (Va.) Department of Transportation.

Meet the Bus

It is the parent's responsibility to get their child to the bus stop at the designated time. Buses are not allowed to wait. Be sure to take the safest route to the assigned bus stop and wait in a safe place off of the street.

Loading the Bus

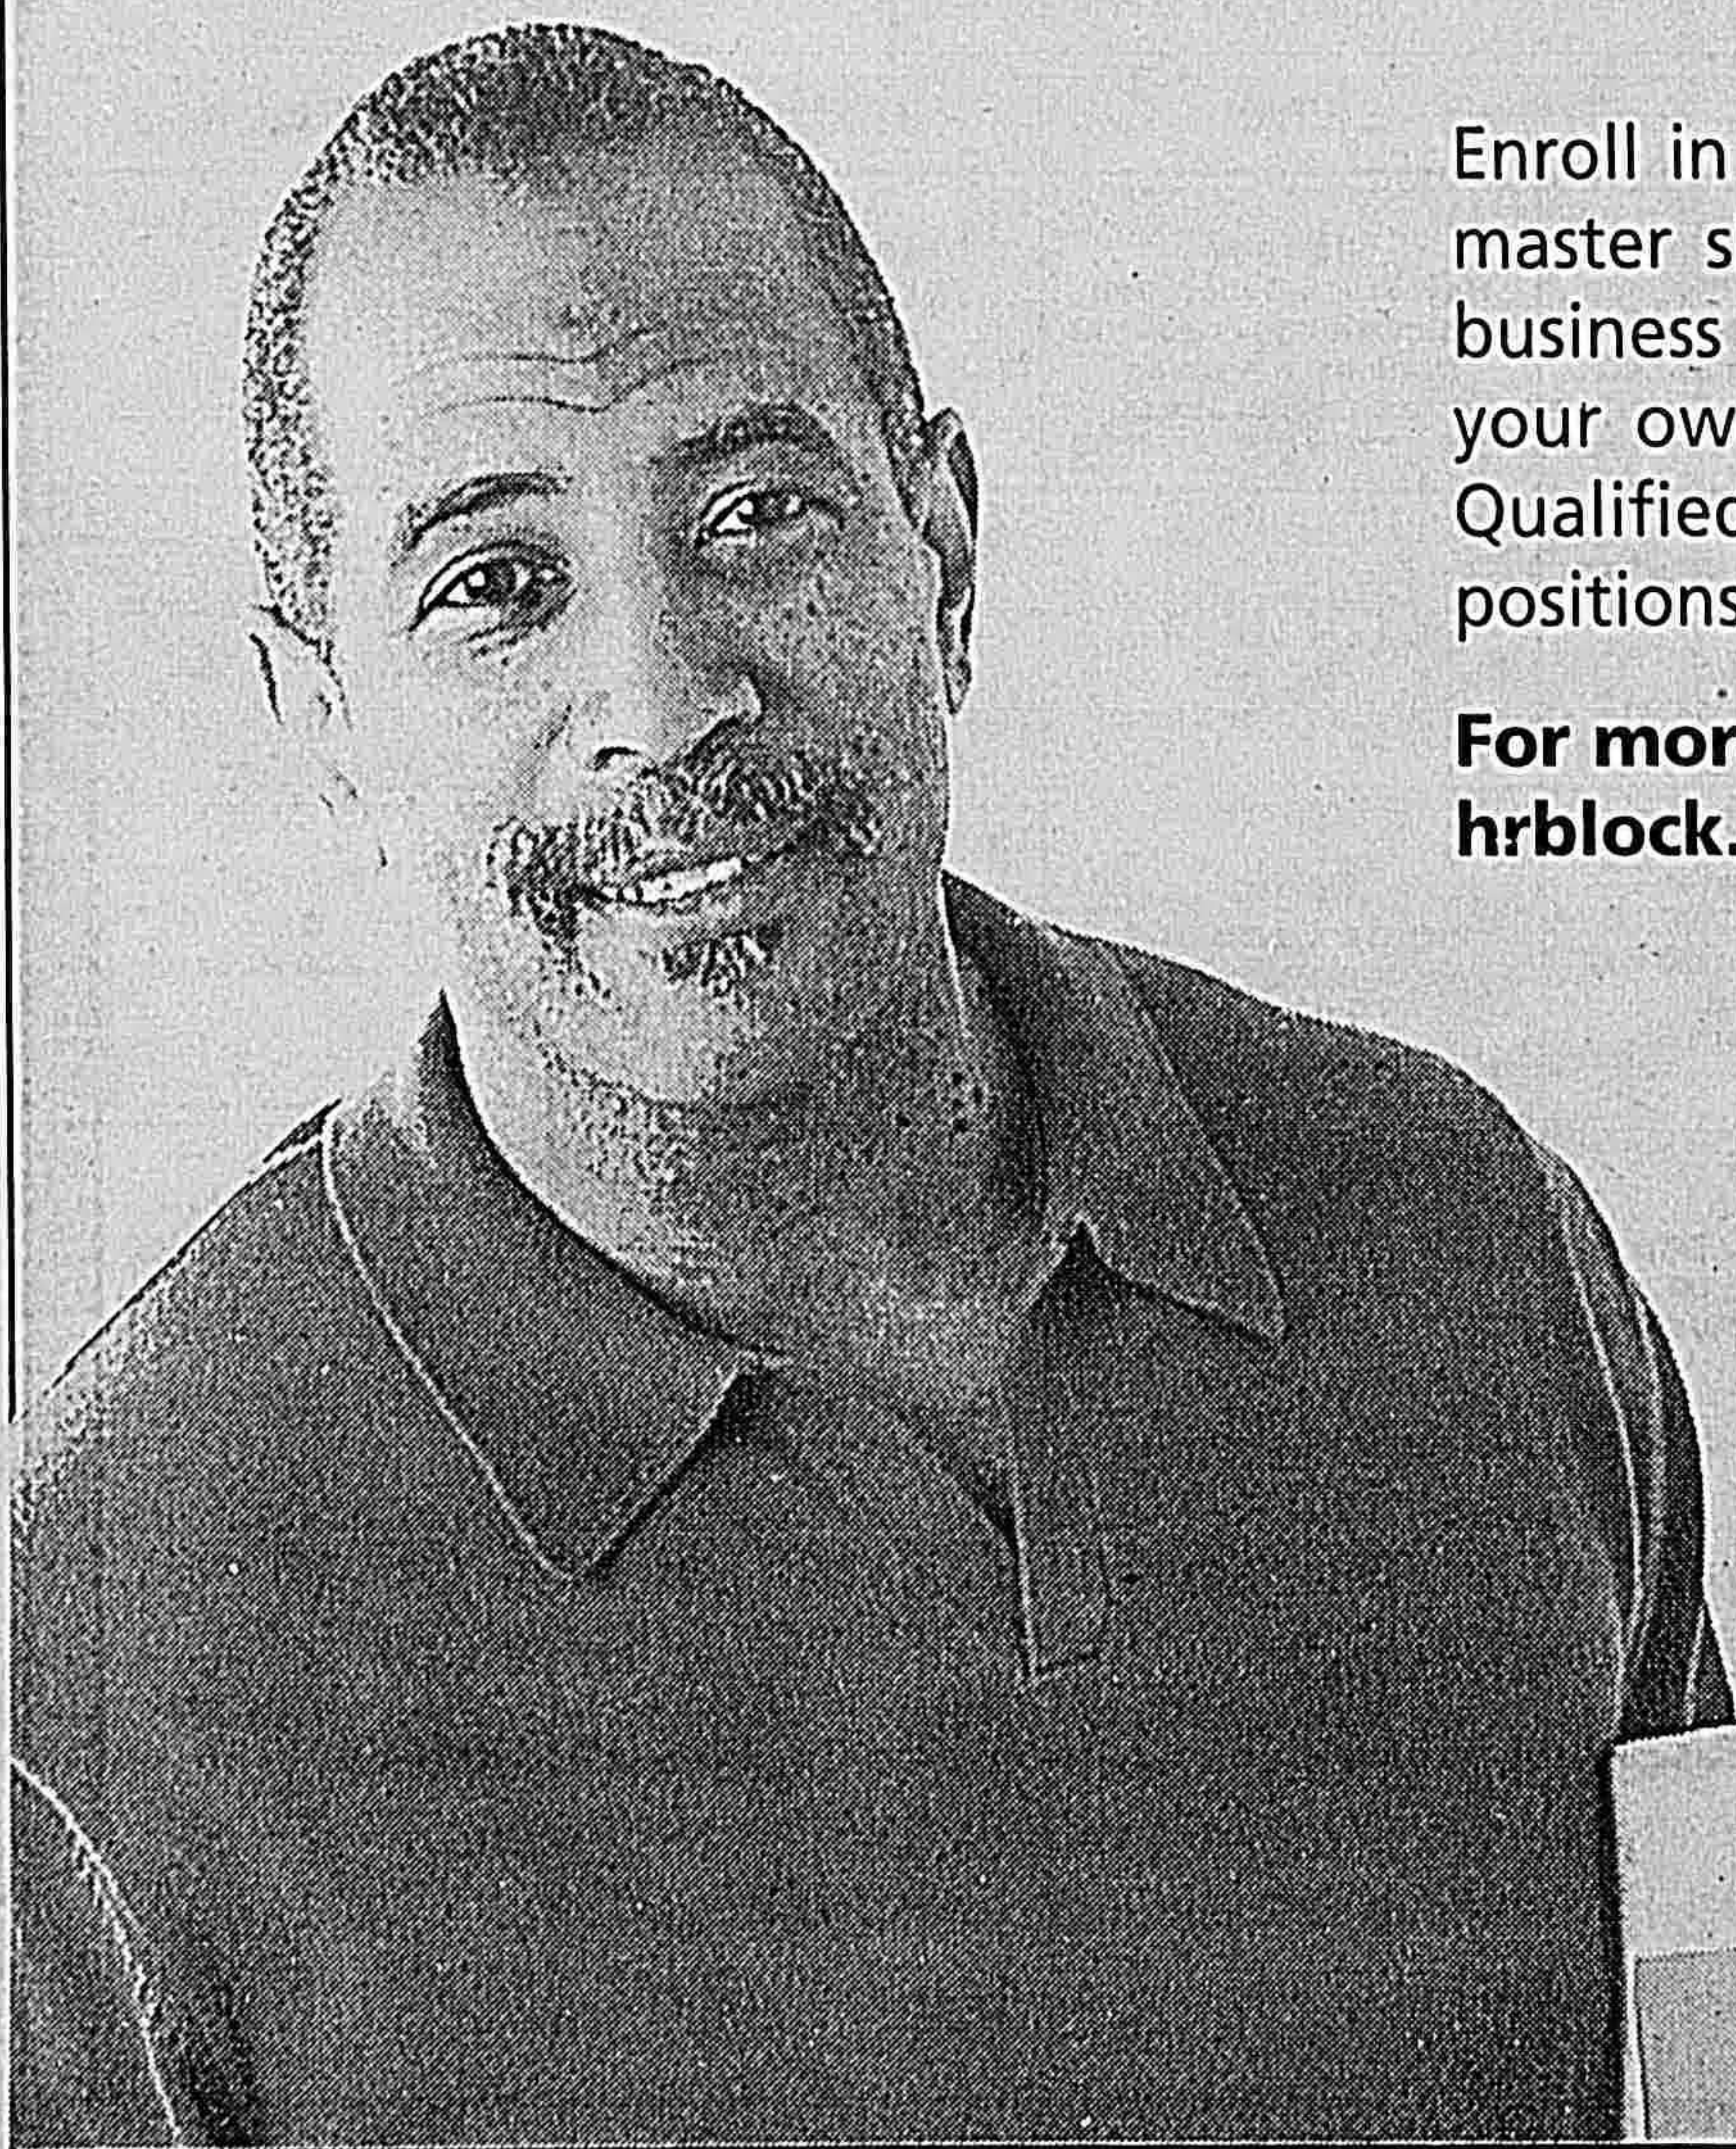

If children must cross the street to board the bus, they should cross at least ten feet in front of the bus - never behind it. When entering, students must enter in an orderly fashion and in accordance with instructions from the bus driver. Younger students should enter first. Students should go directly to their seats and remain seated while the bus is in motion.

Conduct on the Bus

Ultimately, students should show respect for the driver, who in essence, is their guardian for the ride. They should speak at an acceptable volume and refrain from using offensive language. The bus aisle is to be kept clear of feet, arms and other objects which should be held on students' laps.

Following these tips will help ensure a enjoyable ride for children, and give parents assurance that their children are safe.

We went to see Cinderella...but not this one

Hi Dr. Singer,

We had an amazing experience and wanted to share it with you. We went to Disney for our family vacation. My wife and I grew up there just about every summer of our childhood's and loved it more than anything so we wanted to share it with our kids. We were shocked and amazed to walk into the middle of gay day. We had no idea when we booked the vacation that this was going on at that time. We also didn't see anything when we walked in that would tell us that this was happening. Our kids are 3 and 5 and we just stood there flabbergasted unable to move. It of course, took us a little while to realize why everyone was wearing the same colored shirt and why there were so many people in costume. The thing that really concerned us was that some people seemed to be really going to town with being all over each other out in the open. We saw a couple incidences of that and decided to leave the park and go somewhere else that day. We were very upset of course and also worried about what our kids saw. We have nothing against gay people provided they do their sex activities in private, but we just were so taken by surprise and felt like our vacation was really interfered with in a bad way. Have you heard about this and what do think of it? More importantly, could it have damaged our kids in any way? G.J.

Hi G.J.,

I'm really sorry to hear that your vacation was impacted this way. Yes, I have seen it on the news, read about it, etc. Gay Day at Disney has been going on for many years always with controversy. I will first outline my problems with it and then talk about your kids.

Here are my problems with this situation:

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

1.) Allegedly, Disney did not post or forewarn patrons that this event was to occur, so many people like yourselves traveled long distances and were shocked when you came face to face with open sexual behavior in front of your kids. Now, I was not there, so there is no way for me to be sure that Disney did not try to post something. If they did, obviously you didn't see it either. I think that forewarning is extremely important if an event of this nature is going to occur. If Disney wants to have an event like this, that is their choice and if people want to attend an event it should also be their choice. Equally, people who do not want to attend an event like this should also have that choice and not just be hoodwinked when they get there. 2.) Brings me to my second problem: open sexuality in front of kids is a problem. I don't care if you are gay or straight or anywhere in between. You should not be displaying this type of behavior in front of kids, period. Let's be honest. During these types of events things do happen. Similar to what you described, I saw video on the news and read some articles describing what types of activities happen. If it's an all adult arena and only those who want to be there are there, that is one thing. Disney is kids, kids are Disney. Sex or the celebration of sex should not be involved in that at all. 3.) From what I understand, Disney does try to provide a set of standards to be followed during this event. I had read an article in the 1995 "American Family Association of Florida's Newsletter" that indicated that even though Disney had tried to get the participants in this Gay Day event to "tone it down" many did not. I have a big problem if Disney did not do some sort of follow-up on those behaviors to stop them from happening. Now again, I was not there, so I don't know if they tried to reign it in. Similarly, if the NRA had an event there and decided to start shooting openly, I would expect that Disney would intervene and they would. If a nudist group wanted to go there and walk around naked, I would expect Disney to intervene and they would. If a group who liked to urinate on the floor went there and did that, Disney would intervene and I would expect them to. Anyone would. The problem with this event is that everyone is so afraid of putting a stop to behaviors that go beyond what is acceptable in a public arena because of fears of the discrimination label being slapped on. What is acceptable in public is very clear whether someone is gay or straight. If straight people were doing open sexual behaviors in public, I would fully expect them to be reigned in. It should be no different here. If you want to celebrate your group. Fine. Do it according to same laws that everyone lives by. 4.) Disney has traditionally been a place of magic and innocence and traditional family values. Kids and parents are the primary patrons. I have a big problem with any sexual agenda being celebrated in this place, especially during the day. I don't care what group it is that is celebrating. I also have a problem with how intense it seems to get.

I think that there is a way for this event to be held at Disney and be respectful to all those who don't want to be participating or there during it. It's very simple. It should just be included in a normal calendar of events. When you go to any amusement park, before you pay your fee to get in, there is usually a sign at the front gate telling you all the rides that are not operating that day so you can decide whether you want to come in that day or not. I think this should be handled the same way. It is simply an event that occurs there that Disney has had there for years. If it no big deal to them, then it should be part of a calendar of events so other people who do not want to go to this, can choose to go somewhere else that day. Then everyone is happy and no one is caused any harm or inconvenience. Another thing that might be done to prevent people from running into your situation, is that when someone calls to make a reservation, they be informed that this is the calendar of events. Again, just a normal courtesy to make sure that patrons don't take off work and travel only to be disappointed when they get there.

I also think that Disney needs to decide how far they think things should go in their park. If this is a group of adults who happen to be homosexual but are acting within the law and being decent and just enjoying the park, that's one thing. If it becomes an open orgy or a fake orgy, that is something different and would not be acceptable in any public venue be it Disney or not. This is just logical.

I'm sorry you had the experience you had because Disney is the greatest place on earth! Unfortunately, better timing would have been helpful to you. I guess next time, you will have to be the one who asks when the event is going to occur or better yet to get a full list of what events will occur. That is just the best way to be safe. I'm certain that even though it was shock to your child to see those things, that no damage would have been done. They are so young. Of course, it will be up to you to make sure to stay calm when explaining to your child that this is just the way that some adults choose to act. Focus on the make believe part. That it's just like all the other characters at Disney getting into costume. Play it down and don't attach a lot of emotion to it or you will make it a much bigger deal to the child than it is. I hope this helps!

Diagnosed cases of autism growing at near epidemic rates—Why?

When a child is diagnosed with autism, most parents don't know what the word means. They do know it's something bad. Just how bad it is and what causes children who develop normally from birth until about 15 months, to withdraw into a world of their own, has medical researchers perplexed. These children no longer seem to interact with those around them, eye contact is avoided, any acquired speech stops, they can become fixated with an object, often crying uncontrollably, and they refuse to be held or comforted.

These are some of the characteristics of autism, a condition at the high end of the baffling spectrum of pervasive developmental disorders (PDD)—a subject that is getting increased attention with the explosion of diagnosed cases over the past few years.

The astounding photograph of an angelic-faced fifth grade boy who seems normal physically, is miraculously captured in a pose that reveals a child locked in his own world. It's on the cover of the May 6 issue of Time magazine. The caption reads, "Inside the world of autism."

I was fascinated with the divinely beautiful face of 11-year old Tommy Barrett, who by the time he was eight, after his parents finally realized something was wrong, was diagnosed with Asperger syndrome, a mild form of autism. The article talks about Tommy being very bright, a voluble talker, and having learned to read by age four. Yet, Tommy couldn't seem to grasp certain rules of conversation interaction. He avoided looking into people's eyes, and was so "fidgety and unfocused" that he was unable to participate in normal learning activities. Strangely enough, two years earlier, Tommy's two twin brothers, Jason and Danny, were diagnosed as profoundly autistic. Having the disorder's common characteristics: seemingly normal at birth, they learned to say a few words, and then lost the abilities they had acquired. They lapsed into their own private world, making sounds instead of speaking, and breaking instead of playing with toys.

Both autism and Asperger syndrome are two disorders that fall under the category of PDD, and share similar characteristics. Autism, a term originating from the Greek word auto (self) was first described in 1943 by Johns Hopkins psychiatrist Leo Kanner, and then again in 1944 by an Austrian pediatrician

ON CALL

Day Simon

Hans Asperger. Kanner found these children to be totally self-absorbed and alienated. He described them as being in their own world, detached, unresponsive, unable to relate to others, often mentally retarded, yet, others having intellectual gifts that discount mental retardation.

Ten percent are known as autistic savants. We are reminded of Dustin Hoffman's outstanding acting performance as the autistic character he played in "Rain Man".

Asperger used the term to describe children who lacked social interaction skills, who had a restricted range of interests, developed bizarre obsessions, yet had normal intelligence to being seemingly quite bright with adequate language skills in the areas of vocabulary and grammar.

The statistics of the rising number of diagnosed cases of autism and other related PDD disorders vary.

Its cause remains a mystery. For a long time it was thought that emotional factors such as unloving and unnurturing parents were causative factors. Research now recognizes autism as a neurological disorder pointing to a brain malfunction caused by physical, chemical or biological abnormalities. Research also suggests that people with autism have irregular brain structures. There is also likely a direct genetic link to most cases. Parents who have had one child with autism are more likely than other couples to have a second child with autism.

What is profoundly interesting is that the first cases of autism emerged in the United States when vaccination against whooping cough became increasingly popular. The link between autism and vaccines became more apparent as more and more children who received the measles, mumps and rubella vaccines (MMR) developed the disorder. Medical community proponents of the MMR vaccines urge parents to get their children vaccinated, telling us the fear of autism should not be an issue. They use the argument that symptoms of autism often become apparent during the primary school years around the same time that children typically receive the injections.

However, if you ask the parents of autistic children, they will insist that the vaccinations caused the disorder.

Natalie, who works with me at this newspaper, insists that the MMR shot her daughter, Vicky got at 18 months triggered her disorder. "Vicky broke out in a really bad rash with a high fever. She stopped telling me her name or how old she was. She became introverted. At two years she would sit in a room for hours and play the same tape over and over." At three Vicky was diagnosed with PDDNOS (Pervasive Developmental Disorder Not Otherwise Specified) condition.

Natalie's story is all too familiar. There's a multitude of reported cases of babies who appeared to be perfectly normal until they got their MMR shot, and then within a short time would begin screaming, throwing temper tantrums, lose acquired vocabulary and withdraw into themselves.

The evidence is overwhelming. Children who receive all of the 22 vaccines and 35 vaccinations currently recommended by the American Academy of Pediatrics are 14 times more likely to become learning disabled and eight times more likely to become autistic compared with children who were never vaccinated! Why and how is this happening?

The reasons for this, the food allergies that could lead to autism, and also, a very special center in Grayslake that offers specialized therapy services to help these children overcome these disorders is what you're going to read

ATTENTION PET OWNERS
 We Do Not Knowingly Accept Ads For Free/Giveaway Animals

If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.
 *Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
 *Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.
 *Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

Beat the Interview Jitters

By Scott T. Fleischmann, provided by Integrity Business Solutions
Over the past thirty years, as I have interviewed people for various jobs, I have always been amazed at how calm some candidates are in the interview. Most applicants show some degree of nervousness. Those who appear confident (not arrogant) make a better impression than those who are ill at ease. Those who appear relaxed usually make a better impression than those who are nervous and fidgety. But how does one accomplish those goals. It seems illogical to be completely relaxed in a situation where the interviewer is in control of a situation that could affect the candidate's future career. Some simple guidelines follow:

- Understand that none of us is really in control of anything. We cannot control the actions of others. Therefore, others have much control over every aspect of our lives, including our jobs and our careers. Decisions made by managers, interviewers, politicians, customers, vendors, family and friends affect us constantly. When we claim the reality of this truth, relaxation becomes more likely because we no longer have responsibility for the result of every interview. In addition, we can be completely truthful because the interviewer will be able to make the best decision possible based on that truth.
- Diligently prepare for every interview. Review the resume on the eve of the interview and again just before meeting the interviewer. Review questions that have been asked in prior interviews. Make sure that the appropriate clothing is clean and shoes are shined for the interview. A candidate who has prepared will be more confident because of that preparation.
- Learn some simple bio feedback techniques. Tightening all muscles and then relaxing them is a great stress reliever, as is deep breathing. However, just knowing these techniques is not enough. Practice them any time stress or pressure is a problem. Those who practice these exercises will be able to accomplish some degree of relaxation on command.
- Plan to get to the interview early. Rushing to get to the interview will create stress, tension and nervousness. Also, candidates may be required to complete forms before the interview. Speaking of planning, bring a pen, and paper to take notes. Prepare a list of former employers along with their addresses and telephone numbers. Bring extra copies of the resume, reference list, and any other documents that may be needed for the interview.
- Bring a copy of a favorite inspirational quote, a Scripture verse or a favorite story to the interview, read it, and focus on it just before meeting with the recruiter. Any thought that will put the interview into perspective is appropriate. Although it seems important at the time, failure to get the job will not throw the universe out of alignment or cause any worldly calamity. That thought can be comforting. Finally, nervousness and complete calmness are not the only two options. There are various shades of gray between these two extremes. Since the ultimate relaxation, sleep, is not prudent in an interview, candidates need to balance the alertness that is needed to answer the questions with the desired level of relaxation.

Pet Week RUGBY

Hi, my name is Rugby. I am 17 weeks old, yet already have an incredible tale of survival. My mother was abandoned, and to care for her unborn puppies, she escaped by chewing her way through the carpet and floor boards of the home she had been locked in. The hard work paid off because soon afterward, she was rescued. I now live with a great guardian who gives me all the love in the world. I eat organic food and have treats every time she leaves so I know she'll be back. At night I sleep curled up against her tummy where I get the best sleep. I am fortunate to have this wonderful home where I can live out my days.
